Field Instruction in Social Work Settings Toba Schwaber Kerson, 2014-01-14

Field Instruction in Social Work Settings explores the relationship between field instruction and the setting in which it occurs The book asserts that certain aspects of social work including laws funding political climate organizational policies and values affect the relationship between student and field instructor and shape teaching and learning The book explores dimensions of the student field instructor relationship such as goals and expectations development of professional identity uses of the self issues of diversity authority dependency autonomy value dilemmas and the structure of supervision It presents a framework for teaching field instruction and uses the framework to explore its relevance meaning and use in the following settings perinatal AIDS program public child welfare child advocacy agency public school occupational health and safety project family service psychiatric hospital case management program for the elderly day center for the elderly

Field Instruction in Social Work Settings is the only book available relating field instruction to the specific context in which it occurs It recognizes the social work field's diminished budget and increased demands and points out the critical necessity of students learning to address and manage policy and organizational issues as they develop their social work skills This book is an aid to field instructors balancing increases in enrollment and curriculum content and decreases in placements and budgets It integrates all of these concerns with field practice and seeks to provide a model for those working in the field as instructors and students Field Instruction in Social Work Settings applies classroom material to social work settings and emphasizes the value of field instruction by relating it to the branches of child welfare mental health and health care It allows the reader to integrate social work policy and advocacy with field work and it provides the reader with an appreciation of how social work and field instruction can work together directly
