The Learning Society Revisited Torsten Husén, 2014-06-28

Torsten Husén has brought together in this volume a collection of his own essays the topics of which reflect his long and distinguished career both as an academic and as a practical researcher The essays are grouped under six main themes on which he has worked over the years research and policy making educational reforms equality and meritocracy the impact of education on career international and comparative dimensions and present trends and future perspectives An underlying message running throughout the volume is the importance of examining educational problems from a wide social perspective rather than solely from the narrow confines of the classroom

Inside the Learning Society Stewart Ranson, 1998-11-01

As an approach to the diverse and shifting learning needs of today the learning society labours under a definitional generosity which has led to three different models evolving with competing claims This book traces the history of the concept and lucidly lays out these three interpretive models learning for work learning for citizenship and learning for democracy The book's close scrutiny concludes with an analysis that synthesizes and sharpens our understanding of the learning society With due consideration given to the emerging critique and with chapters from public bodies engaged in implementing learning society principles Inside the Learning Society offers a comprehensive appraisal of ideas and practices This is a book of great significance for anyone concerned about or involved in the future of education

The Age of Learning Peter

Jarvis, 2014-06-23 A multidisciplinary analysis of learning in contemporary society It analyzes both the meaning and the place of these strands that make up modern education and offers an overview of the part they play in the work of all educators trainers teachers and course developers

Creating a Learning Society? Gorard, Stephen, Rees, Gareth, 2002-05-22 This book presents a highly innovative study of participation in lifelong learning and the problems which need to be overcome if lifelong learning policies are to be successful It provides a systematic analysis based on innovative empirical research of the social and economic realities which actually determine patterns of participation in lifelong learning shows what the factors are that shape people's participation or their decision not to participate offers new insights into the processes of lifelong learning which have important implications for the development of more effective policies Creating a learning society is a stimulating read for lifelong learning practitioners as well as policy makers and researchers in this field

The Learning

Society in a Postmodern World Kenneth Wain, 2004 Lifelong learning has become a key concern as the focus of educational policy has shifted from mass schooling toward the learning society The shift started in the mid 1960s and early 1970s under the impetus of a group of writers and adult educators gravitating around UNESCO with a humanist philosophy and a leftist agenda The vocabulary of that movement was appropriated in the 1990s by other interests with a very different performativist agenda emphasizing effectiveness and economic outcomes This change of interest described in the book has signified the death of education The Learning Society in a Postmodern World explores different theoretical resources to respond to this situation mainly those that propose some restoration of an educated public or to the contrary individual self creation and uses the works of a broad range of philosophers and thinkers notably MacIntyre Habermas Foucault Derrida Rorty and Baudrillard In addition it raises important questions about postmodern and poststructuralist responses to education in the postmodern world Its comprehensiveness and historical background make it an essential textbook for theoretical courses in lifelong learning and in educational theory in general A broad range of interests and subject matter make it important reading for educators policy specialists media specialists researchers on the subject of lifelong learning and on the relation between education and the postmodern world political theorists philosophers and philosophers of education

International Handbook of Lifelong Learning David N. Aspin, Judith Chapman, Michael Hatton, Yukiko Sawano, 2012-12-06 Recent changes in the world effected by the transformations of information technology globalisation and the move towards a knowledge economy over the last thirty years have been as radical and fundamental as the changes resulting from the invention of the wheel and the printing press We are now living in a new age in which the demands are so complex so multifarious and so rapidly changing that the only way in which we shall be able to survive them is by committing to a process of individual communal and global learning throughout the lifespan of all of us A number of international bodies and agencies have taken cognisance of these transformations and the demands they impose upon societies and communities of the twenty first century and have developed and articulated policies intended to enable all citizens of the world in the twenty first century to face these challenges It is now a declared policy of many governments and international agencies that the only vehicle for such preparation is education education education and that preparing for the knowledge economy and the learning society of the future has to be a lifelong undertaking an investment in the future that is not restricted merely to the domain of economic advancement but also to those of social inclusion and personal growth Realising this policy makers across the international arena are grappling with the need to move from systems that emphasise education and training to the radically more unworked construct of lifelong learning In this volume the editors and authors analyse criticise and rework the ideas principles and theories underpinning policies and programs of lifelong learning re interpreting them in the light of examples of best practice found in a range of educating institutions around the world We believe that students of educational change and community development will find it useful and helpful to have available in this volumesome of the most up to date thinking on the chief concepts theories and values of increasing policy interest in lifelong learning together with a review of some significant examples of the different forms focuses and nexuses of thought and practice on this topic All this enables us to offer some policy recommendations and practical suggestions as to ways forward in the endeavour to make lifelong learning a reality for all

The World as a Laboratory Sotiria

Greik, Joakim Landahl, Martin Lawn, Christian Lundahl, 2024-09-23 This book covers the construction of international education research community in the 1950s 1990s and the growth of its disembedded laboratory i.e. networks spaces materiality travelling translations The book follows a sociology of science theoretical framework in order to examine the research archive of the Swedish internationally renowned educational scholar Torsten Hus n 1916 2009 The archive reveals the shifting and heterogenous transnational networks that contribute to the development of social science research beyond fixed time and space dimensions and that extends social science beyond individual ideas researchers environments institutions and universities These are practices that create mobilise sustain and challenge relations between actors in innovations knowledge creation and various social activities In other words the archive represents the socio material manifestation not only of the intellectual trajectory of a key education actor but the growing organisation of a whole scientific field at the time

Education, Training and the Future of Work II Mike Flude, Sandy Sieminski, 2013-10-18 This volume focuses on the recent changes in education and training policy mainly in the UK The considerable developments of past years and the ways in which they have affected both education and training are examined The contributors analyse the methods by which we educate our workforce and look closely at the kind of training now offered to those in work The chapters in this reader cover the role of the state how economic factors influence education national education and training policy the political factor Other countries including Germany are looked at and there is reflection on the ways in which the new industry led qualifications such as NVQs have fared There is careful analysis as to how much the political climate of the time influenced developments There is thorough research to back up claims made throughout the book and many practical examples are referred to What emerges is an incisive examination of current trends in education and the workplace
