P. McCaskey,2015-06-25 Excerpt from Lincoln Literary Collection Designed for School Room and Family Circle This book is named in honor of Abraham Lincoln in the desire to aid in extending and perpetuating the habit for which our best loved President is widely known that of committing to memory poems that he enjoyed He was a unique man who did many things that are unusual but seem very human and natural for gracious and tender souls like himself He kept intellectual company with choice lovable spirits because he was of their kin and so he grew more and more like unto them and more and more into the confidence and affections of a mighty people until they had taken him to their heart of hearts as no man before in our national history He was a great man raised up by Providence at a time when the nation sorely needed so pure a patriot so far sighted a leader so wise a statesman He was essentially religious with a deep conviction of the abiding presence and overruling power of God but at times a sense of the tremendous responsibility upon him made him know profoundly the meaning of his favorite poem Oh Why should the Spirit of Mortal be Proud As the years pass his memory grows in fragrance redolent of the sweet spirit of good will to men Let it be kept green in the schools by following his good example and adopting knowing it to be his and speaking of it as his this wholesome Lincoln habit of committing to memory Commit to Memory is the thought of the book and appears upon every second page to emphasize its purpose not everything only a modest fraction perhaps a fourth or fifth or sixth of what is found in these pages choosing the best or that which is most enjoyed by those into whose hands the book may come Know many of these things in the dark Know them when you are apart from books or sick or tired or lonely Then go away with the poet the hymn writer or the seer with the wise and the good of the past or of our own time and in the study of the imagination commune with them in blessed companionship It is a great thing thus to bear what these men and women say or sing of nature or life or destiny Consider also what higher life is
