Sociological Methodology, 1973-1974 Herbert L. Costner,1974 Comparative Sociological Research in the 1960s and 1970s Armer,Marsh,2022-03-28 Measurements in the Social Sciences Hubert M. Blalock,1974 Among the frustrations constantly confronting the social scientist are those associated with the general process of measurement The importance of good measurement has long been recognized in principle but it has often been neglected in practice in many of the social sciences Now that the methodological tools of multivariate analysis simultaneous equation estimation and causal modeling are diffused more widely into the social sciences and now that the very serious implications of random and non random measurement errors are being systematically investigated it is all the more important that social scientists give top priority to the quality of their data and the clarity of their theoretical conceptualizations as well as to methods for analyzing fallible data This book deals with selected problems of measurement and is written for graduate students and professional social scientists particularly in the technically less developed fields of sociology political science and anthropology The book is organized so that in general one proceeds from problems of data collection to those of data analysis It is not intended to be a complete work covering all types of measurement problems that have arisen in the social sciences Instead it represents a series of studies of topics that are deemed to be crucial for the advancement of social science research but which have not received sufficient attention in most of the social sciences The basic purpose is to stimulate further methodological research on measurement and to study the ways in which knowledge that has been accumulated in some fields may be generalized so that it may be applied to others The book is divided into three major parts Part I is concerned with applying scaling approaches developed in psychometrics to problems that arise in other social sciences The focus is on finding better ways to ask questions of respondents so as to raise the level of measurement above that of simple ordinal scales Part II focuses on multiple indicator theory and strategies as applied to relatively complex models and to change data In this section the emphasis shifts to how one analyzes fallible data through the construction of explicit measurement error models Part III deals with the statistical analysis of ordinal data including the interpretation and empirical behaviors of various ordinal measures of association The final chapter written by the editor discusses how ordered metric assumptions may be used to make more powerful predictions than those characterizing much of contemporary social science H M Blalock Jr 1926 1991 was Professor Department of Sociology the University of Washington Seattle He was recipient of the 1973 ASA Samuel Stouffer Prize and was a Fellow of the American Statistical Association and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and is a member of the National Academy of Sciences He was the 70th president of the American Sociological Association components such as unitizing and sampling and concludes by showing readers how to trace the analytical paths and apply evaluative techniques The Fourth Edition has been completely revised to offer readers the most current techniques and research on content analysis including new information on reliability and social media Readers will also gain practical advice and experience for teaching academic and commercial researchers how to conduct content analysis

Measurement in the Social Sciences Richard A. Zeller, Edward G. Carmines, 1980-04-30 This textbook is designed to bridge the gap between the theorist and the methodologist by presenting an integrated approach to measurement By differentiating between random and systematic error it conveys both statistical techniques and their theoretical underpinnings essential to students of sociology and political science Rather than developing new technical methods of new theoretical structures Professors Zeller and Carmines provide thorough explanations of the assumptions limitations and interpretations of previously established techniques and theories Written at a level accessible to students of social science with some statistical training the book does not presume a sophisticated mathematical background By concentrating on synthesizing the methodological and theoretical realms Zeller and Carmines demonstrate why measurement considerations are important to research and how measurement principles can be most effectively applied

Causal Models in Experimental Designs H. M. Blalock, 2017-07-12 This is a companion volume to Causal Models in the Social Sciences the majority of articles concern panel designs involving repeated measurements while a smaller cluster involve discussions of how experimental designs may be improved by more explicit attention to causal models All of the papers are concerned with complications that may occur in actual research designs as compared with idealized ones that often become the basis of textbook discussions of design issues Analysis of Change Uwe Engel, Jost Reinecke, 2012-05-07 No detailed description available for Analysis of Change Handbook of Survey Research Peter V. Marsden, James D. Wright, 2010-04-28 With chapters on sampling measurement questionnaire construction and question writing survey implementation and management survey data analysis special types of surveys and integrating surveys with other data collection methods this title includes topics such as measurement models the role of cognitive psychology and surveying networks New Methods in Reading Comprehension Research David E. Kieras, Marcel A. Just, 2018-04-17 Published in 1984 this volume presents methodologies for studying the ongoing psychological processes that occur as a person reads a text as well as discussing the major findings that these methodologies have produced to provide a handbook of reading comprehension research techniques Focusing on the comprehension processes that occur when a person is reading rather than the representation that remains after the text has been read the methodologies use measures such as reading times that reflect ongoing processes rather than relying exclusively on conventional measures of memory performance such as recall These methods make use of computer technology for rapid and flexible stimulus representation and data acquisition This book will allow researchers and students to select appropriate methodologies to investigate a range of fascinating questions about reading comprehension On Durkheim's Rules of Sociological Method (Routledge Revivals) Mike Gane, 2010-11 This radical appraisal of Durkheim's method first published in 1988 argues that fundamental errors have been made in interpreting Durkheim Mike Gane argues that to understand The Rules it is necessary also to understand the context of the French society in which the book was written He explores the cultural and philosophical debates which raged in France during the period when Durkheim prepared the book and establishes the real and unsuspected complexity of Durkheim's position its formal complexity its epistemological complexity and its historical complexity Analyzing Social Interaction Lynn Smith-Lovin, David R. Heise, 2016-05-06 First Published in 1988 This special issue of The Journal of Mathematical Sociology reports continuing work on affect control theory a theory of social behavior that deals with role actions such as those of doctors toward patients with deviant behaviors such as those of muggers toward victims and with creative responses to events such as sanctioning a misbehaved child or labeling a deviant Ethnic Women Vasiliki Demos, 1994 This book introduces the study of ethnic women and contributes to our understanding of the relationships among gender race ethnicity and social class The social scientific study of gender has grown exponentially for more than two decades Until recently however little attention has been paid to the diversity among women The social scientific literature on ethnicity has experienced a revival in the same decades yet women have frequently been overlooked or misrepresented in that literature When ethnic women do appear they are typically depicted as selfless wives and mothers or passive victims These twenty original essays challenge myths and stereotypes The authors social scientists social service professionals and other scholars explore a broad range of racial ethnic and social class circumstances Communities represented include the Hmong in Wisconsin Cuban Jews in Florida and Samoans in Hawaii Patterns of immigration and social mobility communal institutions and maintenance of ethnic traditions are among the topics which reflect the multiple status reality of ethnic women
