Kubalkova,A.

Cruickshank,2015-10-14 Refuting the assumption that orthodox Marxist theory contains anything of relevance on international relations this book originally published in 1980 clarifies reconstructs and summarizes the theories of international relations of Marx and Engels Lenin Stalin and the Soviet leadership of the 1970s These are subjected to a comparative analysis and their relative integrity is examined both against one another and against selected Western theories Marxist Leninist models of international relations are fully explored enabling the reader to appreciate the essence and evolution of fundamental Soviet concepts as such as proletarian socialist internationalism peaceful co existence national liberation movement and d tente Reforming Rural Russia Francis William Wcislo,2014-07-14 As he examines administrative reform of Russian rural local government between the abolition of serfdom and World War I Francis William Wcislo takes as his theme the repeated attempts of tsarist statesmen to restructure the most critical mediating link between the autocratic state and a rapidly modernizing agrarian society His broader objective however is to use the issue of autocratic politics to probe the character and evolution of bureaucratic mentalit in this period Wcislo links the social psychological ideological and institutional nexus of the bureaucracy with its social underpinnings in rural society and lays bare the connections of the bureaucratic world with its traditional social base among the service nobility and the peasantry Placing the conflicting views of officials within the context of the two political cultures of old regime society he shows how bureaucratic reformers anxious to promote civic culture were undermined by defenders of traditional autocracy and the society of service estates soslovie with which that autocracy had coexisted This defense of tradition and the resulting failure of reformist initiatives were fundamental to the crisis of Russia in the early twentieth century Originally published in 1990

Hoffmann,2018-08-06 During the 1930 s 23 million peasants left their villages and moved to Soviet cities where they comprised almost half the urban population and more than half the nation s industrial workers Drawing on previously inaccessible archival materials David L Hoffmann shows how this massive migration to the cities an influx unprecedented in world history had major consequences for the nature of the Soviet system and the character of Russian society even today Hoffmann focuses on events in Moscow between the launching of the industrialization drive in 1929 and the outbreak of war in 1941 He reconstructs the attempts of Party leaders to reshape the social identity and behavior of the millions of newly urbanized workers who appeared to offer a broad base of support for the socialist regime The former peasants however had brought with them their own forms of cultural expression social organization work habits and attitudes toward authority Hoffmann demonstrates that Moscow's new inhabitants established social identities and understandings of the world very different from those prescribed by Soviet authorities Their refusal to conform to the authorities model of a loyal proletariat thwarted Party efforts to construct a social and political order consistent with Bolshevik ideology The conservative and coercive policies that Party leaders adopted in response he argues contributed to the Soviet Union's emergence as an authoritarian welfare state

Studies in Communist Affairs, 1976 Autobiographical Statements in Twentieth-Century Russian Literature Jane Gary Harris, 2014-07-14 The fifteen essays in this volume explore the extraordinary range and diversity of the autobiographical mode in twentieth century Russian literature from various critical perspectives They will whet the appetite of readers interested in penetrating beyond the canonical texts of Russian literature The introduction focuses on the central issues and key problems of current autobiographical theory and practice in both the West and in the Soviet Union while each essay treats an aspect of autobiographical praxis in the context of an individual author's work and often in dialogue with another of the included writers Examined here are first the experimental writings of the early years of the twentieth century Rozanov Remizov and Bely second the unique autobiographical statements of the mid 1920s through the early 1940s Mandelstam Pasternak Olesha and Zoshchenko and finally the diverse and vital contemporary writings of the 1960s through the 1980s as exemplified not only by creative writers but also by scholars by Soviet citizens as well as by emigrants Trifonov Nadezhda Mandelstam Lydia Ginzburg Nabokov Jakobson Sinyavsky and Limonov Originally published in 1990 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Koenker, 2014-07-14 Whereas most Soviet and American scholars of the Russian Revolution have emphasized the great leaders and the great events of 1917 Diane Koenker reverses this trend in a study of the Russian working class Originally published in 1981 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make
