Max Weber's work Recognizing the power of the Durkheimian approach Durkheim and the Birth of Economic Sociology assesses the effect of this important thinker and his successors on one of the most active fields in contemporary sociology

Legal Essays in Tribute to Orrin Kip McMurray Max Radin, A. M. Kidd, 1935 Criminal Law Principles and the Enforcement of EU and National Competition Law Marc Veenbrink, 2019-11-20 Although Article 23.5 of EU Regulation 1/2003 provides that competition law fines shall not be of a criminal law nature this has not prevented certain criminal law principles from finding their way into European Union EU competition law procedures Even more significantly the deterrent effect of competition law fines has led courts in the Netherlands and the United Kingdom UK as well as the European Court of Human Rights to conclude that competition law proceedings can lead to a criminal charge This book offers the first book length study of whether courts do indeed apply criminal law principles in competition law proceedings and if so how these principles are adapted to the needs and characteristics of competition law Focusing on competition law developments both legislative and judicial over a period of twenty years in three jurisdictions the Netherlands the UK and the EU the author compares how each of the following criminal law principles has emerged and been interpreted in each jurisdiction's proceedings freedom from self incrimination non bis in idem burden and standard of proof legality and legal certainty and proportionality of sanctions The author offers proposals involving both legislative and judicial actions with examples of judges invoking criminal law principles to develop an appropriate level of safeguards in competition law proceedings The book shows that criminal law can provide a rich source of inspiration for the judiciary on the appropriate level of legal safeguards in competition law proceedings As such it provides an important source of information and guidance for lawyers and judges dealing with competition law matters The Real Economy and the Finance Economy Marc

Batko, 2013-08-20 In 2013 economic crisis is marked by systemic and structural contradictions exploding inequality ecological overshoot and the erosion of trust democracy and community Trillions were given to Wall Street banks to avert financial collapse on the ground of too big to fail Private losses morphed into public losses Taxpayers shouldered the losses from financial speculation and unbounded deregulation Government acted as the errand boy for the banks Bill Moyers Economic problems are systemic and structural not psychological and motivational Risk takers and job creators have been unmasked Risk managers turned out to be risk producers The system must be changed because the system leads to stagnant wages over 30 years totally inadequate creation of family wage jobs paying into social security Our clientele system confuses public and private ignores long term necessities e.g. universal health care free or affordable education and rights of nature in favor of profit maximization and shareholder interests We face system collective and political problems since lobbyists write legislation corporations are treated as persons money is regarded as speech the disastrous 2010 Supreme Court decision in Citizens United and investment is confused with speculation Financial investment eclipses real economy investment Wall Street banks spend over 4 billion over 10 years for lobbying and campaign contributions The myths of neoliberalism and shareholder value were and are the basis for the 2007 2008 financial crisis The myths of the invisible hand that self interest leads to the public interest corporate beneficence money created out of thin air the Enron model the Apple Google model of billions in dummy corporations or tax havens the investors suing states model and the myth of nature as a free good external or sink must be deconstructed and abandoned Cooperation and competition are not opposites but depend on one another Education health care air waves food housing and information are public and must remain public Otherwise they become privileges and we live in a plutocracy or 21st century feudalism The time is right for alternative economics reducing working hours labor intensive investment person related work access not excess and enough not more Unlike a chair an idea can be shared by a whole people The following articles by Swiss Austrian and German critical economists could revitalize public debate and understanding The present system is unsustainable and the future system is still being designed Radical change is a necessity given the end of cheap oil climate change and the need to redefine work security happiness and health Only dead fish swim with the stream You can make fish soup out of an aquarium but you can t make an aquarium out of fish soup A public debate on job creation shrinking the financial sector market failure motors models and myths is imperative Drug Use in America: Drug Dependence and the Legal System United States.
