He has indeed been called the Columbus of Central Africa but the title is inadequate. At the head of a long roll of honorable names he has placed his own not by some mere chance of circumstance or fortuitous turn of fortune's wheel but by dint of sheer determination to seek to find and not to yield by a rare courage and a devotion to duty hardly short of heroism. He is more than a mere discoverer for the scene of his many marvelous exploits has also been the center around which his highest hopes and deepest feelings have revolved. For twenty years he has been an African traveler for fifteen an African enthusiast. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. As a child, Rowlands suffered years of abuse by his family and in the workhouse. In 1859 at the age of eighteen he emigrated to America and began the process of reinventing himself, pretending to be an American and taking the name of Henry Hope Stanley. A successful cotton merchant, he claimed he had met in New Orleans who informally adopted him and became a father figure to the young Stanley. In his autobiography, Stanley looks back on this time as being heavily affected by the abuse he endured and the stigma of illegitimacy. During the Civil War, Stanley became one of the few people to serve in the Confederate Army, Union Army, and the U.S. Navy, and after the war he became a newspaper correspondent for the St. Louis Missouri Democrat, covering General Hancock's army in the Indian campaigns. Stanley elaborates on his adventures during the Civil War and the Plains Indian Wars in the first half of the book. In 1868 Stanley began covering the war in Abyssinia for the New York Herald, which sent him to Africa to find David Livingstone, a year later a feat that garnered him his first taste of international renown Stanley then spent the following twenty years exploring and charting the African interior authoring several best selling books and working as a colonial administrator for the Congo Free State of Belgian King Leopold II In this latter endeavor Stanley helped to establish one of the most controversial and violent colonial projects in the history of European imperialism During this time he worked on his autobiography DAB However Stanley died in 1904 before he could finish it and his wife Dorothy whom he married in 1890 stepped in to edit and prepare it for publication completing the work from Stanley s notes and drafts It was then published in London and Boston in 1909 The Autobiography of Sir Henry Morton Stanley, G.C.B. Henry Morton Stanley,1909 The Autobiography of Sir Henry Morton Stanley Henry Morton Stanley,2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1909 edition Excerpt CHAPTER XV THROUGH THE DARK CONTINENT IN a camp in the heart of Africa not far from Lake Bangweolo David Livingstone the traveller evangelist lay dead His followers numbering about three score negroes of Zanzibar deliberated upon their future movements To return to the coast ruled by their Sultan without their great white master would provoke grave suspicion They resolved to prepare the remains so as to be fit for transportation across a breadth of tropical region which extended to the Indian Ocean fifteen hundred miles After many weary months of travel they arrived at the sea coast with the body In charge of two of the faithful band it was placed on board a homeward bound steamer to be finally deposited 1 in a vault in Westminster Abbey At the same period when the steamer coasted along the shores of Eastern Africa I was returning to England along the coast of Western Africa from the Ashantee campaign At St Vincent on February 25th 1874 cable news of the death of Livingstone substantiated beyond doubt was put into my hands At Lake Bangweolo the death occurred said the cablegram Just one thousand miles south of Nyangwe The great river remains then a mystery still for poor Livingstone s work is unfinished Fatal Africa One after another travellers drop away It is such a huge continent and each of its secrets is environed by so many difficulties the torrid heat the miasma exhaled from the soil the noisome vapours enveloping every path the giant cane grass suffocating the wayfarer the rabid fury of the native guarding every entry and exit the unspeakable misery of the life within the wild continent the utter absence of every comfort the bitterness which each day heaps upon the poor white The Autobiography of Sir Henry Morton Stanley Henry Stanley,2014-03 This Is A New Release Of The Original 1909 Edition The Autobiography of Sir Henry Morton Stanley, G.C.B Henry Morton Stanley,2011-08-25 In this 1909 autobiography we learn how the troubled childhood of explorer Sir Henry Morton Stanley drove him to succeed
