Literature review
While there is a growing body of research on the effect of board gender diversity on firm performance, existing empirical evidence remains inconclusive and have yielded conflicting performance. existing studies provided support for women's presence on the board (Almouzni et al., 2016; Arora et al., 2015; Kim and Soenen, 2016; Liu et al., 2014; Nguyen et al., 2015; Ragozzini, 2016; Xu et al., 2017), whereas other studies found no link between board gender diversity and firm performance (Carter et al., 2010; Ghosh et al., 2010; Huseini and Ibrahim, 2009; and firm performance (Miller and del Carmen Torres, 2009) and at times, a negative relationship (Almouzni and Ferreira, 2009; Arora and Datta, 2012; Liu et al., 2010; Torjesen et al., 2016). The mixed results of past studies could be due to the data from different countries, time periods or measures of firm performance (Almouzni et al., 2015, Li and Liu, 2016). Based on a contingency approach, the effect of board gender diversity on firm performance may be strengthened or weakened depending on the characteristics of the organizational environment, such as organizational size, industry, and ownership (Van Knippenberg et al., 2004). firm size and ownership (Van Knippenberg et al., 2004) and expert dependence (Richard et al., 2012) and expert dependence. Consequently, researchers call for studies on the role of board gender diversity in the impact of gender diversity on firm performance to be more specific, which condition "board diversity improves firm performance" (Miller and del Carmen Torres, 2009; Li and Chen, 2010; Miller and del Carmen Torres, 2009). The effects of board diversity on firm performance tend to be positive or negative. In our literature stream, arguments of board diversity on firm performance are inconclusive.
