A Commentary on the Letters of John Birger Olsson, 2013-08-13 The long history of interpretation of the three Johannine letters has been largely characterized at least since Irenaeus in the late second century by the assumption that the Elder was addressing the Gnostic heresy In recent years particularly with the work of Raymond Brown attention has been focused on the internal schism within the Johannine or Beloved Disciple's community thus taking the first epistle as a corrective to secessionists misguided attempts to read the Gospel of John in an advanced spiritualizing manner Birger Olsson returns to a less common perspective one that views the crisis facing the Elder as a wholly intra Jewish problem The Johannine community comprised Jewish believers who regarded Jesus as the long promised Messiah of Israel but at some point in the community's life under the leadership of one Diotrephes some members of the community chose to reject this conviction and to entice other members to do likewise Olsson anchors his thoroughgoing interpretation of the three letters in this conflict among Jewish Christians over the nature of the Messiah and the renewal of Israel's ancient covenant Among other things this implies that the letters were written in reverse order of their numbering
