The eye is a complex organ that allows us to see. It consists of several parts, including the cornea, iris, lens, and retina. The cornea is the front part of the eye that helps to focus light. The iris is the colored part of the eye that controls the amount of light that enters. The lens is a transparent structure that focuses light on the retina. The retina is the back part of the eye that contains light-sensitive cells that send signals to the brain.

Light enters the eye through the cornea and passes through the iris and lens. The lens focuses the light on the retina, which is the back part of the eye. The retina contains light-sensitive cells called rods and cones. Rods are responsible for vision in low light, while cones are responsible for color vision. The signals from the rods and cones are sent to the brain through the optic nerve.
