The Louisiana Purchase dominates the months covered in this volume Jefferson departs for Monticello to enjoy a needed respite after the busy three and a half months he has just spent in the nation's capital Shortly before leaving Washington he has a last meeting with his cabinet after which he issues a proclamation to reconvene Congress on 17 October three weeks early It is the great and weighty business of the French government's stunning offer to transfer all of the Louisiana Territory to the United States that necessitates this important gathering The event brings Jefferson enthusiastic congratulations from his friends and fellow Republicans With Jefferson's great success however comes the reality of getting the agreement with France approved and implemented The boundaries of the territory ceded are not even clear In private letters to his trusted advisers Jefferson discusses the proper course of action Should both houses of Congress be called to consider the French offer Is it prudent to make the substance of a treaty public And perhaps most vexing does this executive action require an amendment to the Constitution Some Federalists criticize the plan but an expansion of the nation's territory proponents argue will raise America's stature in the eyes of the world With the widening of the country's borders Jefferson's project to send an exploratory party westward seems even timelier William Clark accepts Meriwether Lewis's invitation to join the expedition and on the last day of August Lewis begins his journey down the Ohio River the building of his boat finally complete

Visions of Glory Benjamin Fagan, Kathleen Elizabeth Diffley, 2019-11-01 Visions of Glory brings together twenty two images and twenty two brisk essays each essay connecting an image to the events that unfolded during a particular year of the Civil War The book focuses on a diverse set of images that include a depiction of former slaves whipping their erstwhile overseer distributed by an African American publisher a census graph published in the New York Times and a cutout of a child's hand sent by a southern mother to her husband at the front The essays in this collection reveal how wartime women and men created both written accounts and a visual register to make sense of this pivotal period The collection proceeds chronologically providing a nuanced history by highlighting the multiple meanings an assorted group of writers and readers discerned from the same set of circumstances In so doing this volume assembles contingent and fractured visions of the Civil War but its differing perspectives also reveal a set of overlapping concerns A number of essays focus in particular on African American engagements with visual culture The collection also emphasizes the role that women played in making disseminating or interpreting wartime images While every essay explores the relationship between image and word several contributions focus on the ways in which Civil War images complicate an understanding of canonical writers such as Emerson Melville and Whitman
