The Economics of Adaptation and Long-term Relationships Dean Victor Williamson, 2019 Do institutions matter in economic theory Or is the economic analysis of institutions a distraction from the most important action Indeed does Vernon Smith's notion of the institution free core of formal economic theory encompass that most important action To explore this question this book opens with an informal tour of the economics of system design out of which an economics of adaptation ultimately emerged The book then offers explorations via the application of the economics of adaptation in both law and economics relating to how parties manage relationships within the firm within the context of long term contracts and most vividly within the context of antitrust conspiracy

Contract Farming in Developing Countries Sudha Narayanan, 2025-03-18 Contract farming is an institutional arrangement between farmers and businesses to produce and transact agricultural commodities at predetermined prices and conditions and it has recently received a heightened amount of attention despite being a relatively old phenomenon A new wave of agricultural industrialization and the emergence of large scale food retailing in developing countries may be precipitating the unprecedented shift in favor of contract farming This open access book identifies the methodological differences across disciplines that have generated a false binary in discussions of contract farming The author explains the importance of adopting a more integrated theoretical perspective providing insights into the ways in which this can reconcile conflicting positions Given the immense diversity of contracting schemes commodities and contexts as well as the substantial regional differences in contract farming experiences across a range of outcomes a syncretic understanding of contract farming is essential to the evaluation of the promise and perils of contract farming The resulting book proposes a way forward that is holistic in nature framing contract farming within a comparative institutional analysis so that it can better accommodate multidisciplinary priorities

The Fall and Rise of Freedom of Contract F. H. Buckley, 1999-08-27 Declared dead some twenty five years ago the idea of freedom of contract has enjoyed a remarkable intellectual revival In The Fall and Rise of Freedom of Contract leading scholars in the fields of contract law and law and economics analyze the new interest in bargaining freedom The 1970s was a decade of regulatory triumphalism in North America marked by a surge in consumer securities and environmental regulation Legal scholars predicted the death of contract and its replacement by regulation and reliance based theories of liability Instead we have witnessed the reemergence of free bargaining norms This revival can be attributed to the rise of law and economics which laid bare the intellectual failure of anticontractarian theories Scholars in this school note that consumers are not as helpless as they have been made out to be and that intrusive legal rules meant ostensibly to help them often leave them worse off Contract law principles have also been very robust in areas far afield from traditional contract law and the essays in this volume consider how free bargaining rights might reasonably be extended in tort property land use planning bankruptcy and divorce and family law This book will be of particular interest to legal scholars and specialists in contract law Economics and public policy planners will also be challenged by its novel arguments Contributors Gregory S Alexander Margaret F Brinig F H Buckley Robert Cooter Steven J Eagle Robert C Ellickson Richard A Epstein William A Fischel Michael Klausner Bruce H Kobayashi Geoffrey P Miller Timothy J Muris Robert H Nelson Eric A Posner Robert K Rasmussen Larry E Ribstein Roberta Romano Paul H Rubin Alan Schwartz Elizabeth S Scott Robert E Scott Michael J Trebilcock Catalog of Copyright Entries.
