Political Violence in Judaism, Christianity, and Islam Jonathan Fine, 2015-03-26 Religious political violence is by no means a new phenomenon yet there are critical differences between the various historical instances of such violence and its more current permutations Since the mid 1970s religious fundamentalist movements have been seeking to influence world order by participating in local political systems For example Islamic fundamentalism is at the heart of the Muslim Brotherhood in Egypt the Christian fundamental right wing has seen a resurgence in Europe and Jewish fundamentalism is behind the actions of Meir Kahane's Kach movement and the settler movement The shift in recent years from secular to religious political violence necessitates a reevaluation of contemporary political violence and of the concept of religious violence This text analyzes the evolution of religious political violence in both historical and contemporary perspectives Since religious political violence events are usually associated with the term terrorism the book first analyzes the origins of this controversial term and its religious manifestations It then outlines and highlights the differences between secular and religious political violence on ideological strategic and tactical levels before comparing the concept of Holy War in Judaism Christianity and Islam Lastly it shows how modern radical monotheistic religious groups interpret and manipulate their religious sources and ideas to advocate their political agendas including the practice of violence A unique comparative study of religious political violence across Judaism Islam and Christianity this text features many international case studies from the Crusades to the Arab Spring

Shelef, 2018-09-05 Evolving Nationalism examines how the idea of Israel as a nation state has developed within Zionist and Israeli discourse over the past eight decades Nadav G Shelef focuses on the changing ways in which the main nationalist movements answered three distinct questions in their private and public ideological articulations between 1925 and 2005 Where is the Land of Israel Who ought to be Israeli What should the Zionist national mission be Framed within broader debates about how and why changes in foundational definitions of the nation occur Shelef's analysis centers on the mechanisms of ideological change and then subjects them to empirical scrutiny He thus moves beyond the common but problematic assumptions that such transformations must be either a rare rational adaptation to traumatic shock or a relatively constant product of manipulation by power hungry elites He finds that nationalist movements including radical and religious fundamentalist ones can and do change cardinal components of their ideological beliefs in both moderating and radicalizing directions These changes have more to do with the unguided consequences of engagement in day to day politics than with strategic reaction to new realities the use of force or the changing incentives of leaders Engaging with some of the most contentious debates about the nature of Israeli nationalism and the geographic religious and ethnic definition of the state of Israel Shelef has made signal contributions to our understanding of Middle East politics and of the ideological underpinnings of nationalism itself Israeli Historical
