Van Derwerker and Leo Weaver, Division of Sanitation United States. Public Health Service. Division of Sanitation, 1956     Garbage In The Cities Martin V. Melosi, 2004-11-26 As recently as the 1880s most American cities had no effective means of collecting and removing the mountains of garbage refuse and manure over a thousand tons a day in New York City alone that clogged streets and overwhelmed the senses of residents In his landmark study Garbage in the Cities Martin Melosi offered the first history of efforts begun in the Progressive Era to clean up this mess Since it was first published Garbage in the Cities has remained one of the best historical treatments of the subject This thoroughly revised and updated edition includes two new chapters that expand the discussion of developments since World War I It also offers a discussion of the reception of the first edition and an examination of the ways solid waste management has become more federally regulated in the last quarter of the twentieth century Melosi traces the rise of sanitation engineering accurately describes the scope and changing nature of the refuse problem in U S cities reveals the sometimes hidden connections between industrialization and pollution and discusses the social agendas behind many early cleanliness programs Absolutely essential reading for historians policy analysts and sociologists Garbage in the Cities offers a vibrant and insightful analysis of this fascinating topic     Energy Research Abstracts, 1977 Semiannual with semiannual and annual indexes References to all scientific and technical literature coming from DOE its laboratories energy centers and contractors Includes all works deriving from DOE other related government sponsored information and foreign nonnuclear information Arranged under 39 categories e g Biomedical sciences basic studies Biomedical sciences applied studies Health and safety and Fusion energy Entry gives bibliographical information and abstract Corporate author subject report number indexes     Refuse Collection and Disposal Ralph J. Public Health Bibliography Series United States. Public Health Service,1966      Accountants' Index ,1921      The Economics of Waste Richard C. Porter,2010-09-30 In this concise engaging and provocative work Richard Porter introduces readers to the economic tools that can be applied to problems involved in handling a diverse range of waste products from business and households Emphasizing the impossibility of achieving a zero risk environment Porter focuses on the choices that apply in real world decisions about waste Acknowledging that effective waste policy integrates knowledge from several disciplines Porter focuses on the use of economic analysis to reveal the costs of different policies and therefore how much can be done to meet goals to protect human health and the environment With abundant examples he considers subjects such as landfills incineration and illegal disposal He discusses the international trade in waste the costs and benefits of recycling and special topics such as hazardous materials Superfund and nuclear waste While making clear his belief that not every form of waste presents the same amount of risk Porter stresses the need for open minded approaches to developing new policies For students policymakers and general readers he provides insight and accessibility to a subject that others might leave out of sight out of mind or buried under an impenetrable prose of statistics and jargon      Engineering News-record ,1904      Catalogue of Hazardous and Solid Waste Publications United States. Environmental Protection Agency. Office of Solid Waste and Emergency Response,1998      Decision-making and Radioactive Waste Disposal Andrew Newman,Gerry Nagtzaam,2015-11-19 The International Atomic Energy Agency estimates that nuclear power generation facilities produce about 200 000 cubic meters of low and intermediate level waste each year Vital medical procedures industrial processes and basic science research also produce significant quantities of waste All of this waste must be shielded from the population for extended periods of time Finding suitable locations for disposal facilities is beset by two main problems community responses to siting proposals are generally antagonistic and as a result governments have tended to be reactive in their policy making Decision making and Radioactive Waste Disposal explores these issues utilizing a linear narrative case study approach that critically examines key stakeholder interactions in order to explain how siting decisions for low level waste disposal are made Five countries are featured the US Australia Spain South Korea and Switzerland This book seeks to establish an understanding of the political economic environmental legal and social dimensions of siting across those countries This valuable resource fills a gap in the literature and provides recommendations for future disposal facility siting efforts The book will be of interest to students and scholars of environmental law justice management politics energy and security policy as well as decision makers in government and industry Reusable News ,1990 Waste: At the
