Chinese Revolution and Chinese Literature Tao Dongfeng, Rosemary Roberts, Yang Xiaobin, 2009-05-05 This volume has brought together essays to explore analyse and interpret the revolutionary tradition in modern Chinese literature over the past century from various angles The authors examines the bodily or carnal dimension especially the hidden implication of sexual passion in revolutionary literature formulate feminist critiques of the conception of women in literary expressions of revolution explore the function of revolution as historical discourse and in historiographical representation and discuss the reworking of revolutionary classics in recent literary and artistic endeavours Here revolution in history and in literature is conceptualized neither as an unquestionably progressive and creative force for a new world nor an absolutely pejorative concept that necessarily leads to sociopolitical turmoil and tragedy Insofar as postrevolutionary writings cannot but reappropriate the revolutionary spirit as their unavoidable and inseparable traumatic kernel studies in revolutionary literature and culture too go through the zigzag experience of revolution in order to scrutinize its complex implications

China and the True Jesus Melissa Wei-Tsing Inouye, 2018-12-03 In 1917 the Beijing silk merchant Wei Enbo's vision of Jesus sparked a religious revival characterized by healings exorcisms tongues speaking and most provocatively a call for a return to authentic Christianity that challenged the Western missionary establishment in China This revival gave rise to the True Jesus Church China's first major native denomination The church was one of the earliest Chinese expressions of the twentieth century charismatic and Pentecostal tradition which is now the dominant mode of twenty first century Chinese Christianity To understand the faith of millions of Chinese Christians today we must understand how this particular form of Chinese community took root and flourished even throughout the wrenching changes and dislocations of the past century The church's history links together key themes in modern Chinese social history such as longstanding cultural exchange between China and the West imperialism and globalization game changing advances in transport and communications technology and the relationship between religious movements and the state in the late Qing circa 1850 1911 Republican 1912 1949 and Communist 1950 present day eras Vivid storytelling highlights shifts and tensions within Chinese society on a human scale How did mounting foreign incursions and domestic crises pave the way for Wei Enbo a rural farmhand to become a wealthy merchant in the early 1900s Why did women in the 1920s and 30s such as an orphaned girl named Yang Zhendao devote themselves so wholeheartedly to a patriarchal religious system What kinds of pressures induced church leaders in a meeting in the 1950s to agree that Comrade Stalin had saved many more people than Jesus This book tells the striking but also familiar tale of the promise and peril attending the collective pursuit of the extraordinary how individuals within the True Jesus Church in China over the past century have sought to muster divine and human resources to transform their world

Stateless Subjects Petrus Liu, 2012-01-31 Known in the West primarily through poorly subtitled films Chinese martial arts fiction is one of the most iconic and yet the most understudied form of modern sinophone creativity Current scholarship on the subject is characterized by three central assumptions against which this book argues first that martial arts fiction is the representation of a bodily spectacle that historically originated in Hong Kong cinema second that the genre came into being as an escapist fantasy that provided psychological comfort to people during the height of imperialism and third that martial arts fiction reflects a patriotic attitude that celebrates the greatness of Chinese culture which in turn is variously described as the China complex colonial modernity essentialized identity diasporic consciousness anxieties about globalization or other psychological and ideological difficulties experienced by the Chinese people

Poverty in Modern Chinese Realism Keru Cai, 2025-04-28 Poverty in Modern Chinese Realism shows that early twentieth century Chinese writers drew upon Russian texts about the socially downtrodden to describe poverty in a bid to enrich Chinese culture by creating a syncretic new realism Modern Chinese realist writers turned to the topic of material poverty peasants suffering from famine exploited urban laborers homeless orphans to convey their sense of textual poverty and national backwardness The combination of a radically new subject matter and experimentation with diverse literary resources indigenous and foreign generated major innovations in narrative technique Depicting poverty allowed writers to revolutionize the nascent forms of modern Chinese narrative innovating strategies of representing the nation the social other time and space while problematizing their deployment of squalor for aesthetic purposes This book examines why Russian literature itself long preoccupied with a problem of belatedness vis vis Western Europe occupied a privileged place for Chinese intellectuals of this era Comparing Chinese fiction about poverty to Russian intertexts by Gogol Andreiev Chekhov Turgenev and others the book shows how Chinese writers drew and innovated upon themes such as madness or human animality and formal elements such as metonymy Keru Cai's multi scalar approach emphasizing close textual analysis situates modern Chinese realism in the trans Eurasian axis of world literature
