 Canadian telecasts in September 1952 TV had conquered the country Why was the little screen so enthusiastically welcomed by Canadians Was television in its early years more innovative less commerical and more Canadian than current than current offerings In this study of what is often called the golden age of television Paul Rutherford has set out to dispel some cherished myths and to resurrect the memory of a noble experiment in the making of Canadian culture He focuses on three key aspects of the story The first is the development of the national service including the critical acclaim won by Radio Canada the struggles of the CBC s English service to provide mass entertainment that could compete with the Hollywood product and the effective challenge of private television to the whole dream of public broadcasting The second deals with the wealth of made in Canada programming available to please and inform vviewers even commercials receive close attention Altogether Rutherford argues Canadian programming reflected as well as enhanced the prevailing values and assumptions of the mainstream The final focus is on McLuhan s Question What happens to society when a new medium of communications enters the picture Rutherford s findings cast doubt upon the common presumptions about the awesome power of television Television in Canada Rutherford concludes amounts to a failed revolution It never realized the ambbbitions of its masters or the fears of its critics Its course was shaped not only by the will of the government the power of commerce and the empire of Hollywood but also by the desires and habits of the viewers Writing Between the Lines Agnes Whitfield,2006 The essays in Writing between the Lines explore the lives of twelve of Canada s most eminent anglophone literary translators and delve into how these individuals have contributed to the valuable process of literary exchange between francophone and anglophone literatures in Canada Containing original detailed biographical and bibliographical material Writing between the Lines offers many new insights into the literary translation process and the diverse roles of the translator as social agent The first text on Canadian anglophone translators it makes a major contribution in the areas of literary translation comparative regularly Where do you get your ideas How did you get started And be honest are you really in it for the money Following the highly successful Me Funny and Me Sexy anthologies Me Artsy answers these eternal questions and more With essays from fourteen First Nations artists from a variety of disciplines the collection provides insight into the paths that led each artist to pursue and develop his or her craft The essays explore many common themes around the role of art in First Nations communities including the importance of art for creating social change the role of art in representing Native culture and the fusion of traditional and contemporary techniques On a more personal level the essays describe the significance of art in the lives of the contributors along with their sometimes unlikely journeys to success stories which are often touched with humour and humility Chef David Wolfman describes gruelling years of prep work in the kitchens of the exclusive National Club filmmaker Zacharias Kunuk discusses leaping into his first feature film without knowing how to finance it fashion designer Kim Picard describes making a dress inspired by coffee beans and playwright Drew Hayden Taylor tells the story of putting a bullet through his first play and burying it in his yard Other contributors include actor playwright Monique Mojica painter Marianne Nicolson painter Maxine Noel blues pianist Murray Porter scholar Karyn Recollet dancer choreographer Santee Smith director actor Rose Stella drummer Steve Teekens writer Richard Van Camp and manga artist Michael Nicholl Yahgulanaas University of Toronto Quarterly University of Toronto,1996 International Books in Print ,1991
