Indigenous Shona Philosophy Pascah Mungwini, 2017-12-29 Some of the most provocative questions confronting philosophers in Africa are grounded in the historical memory of conquest and the peripheralisation the continent Mungwini offers a critical reconstruction of indigenous Shona philosophy as an aspect of the African intellectual heritage held hostage by colonial modernity In this comprehensive work he lays bare the thoughts of the Shona who are credited with the founding of the ancient Great Zimbabwe civilisation Retracing the epistemic thread in the fabric of Shona culture and philosophy he explores the assumptions that inform their thinking The exchange of such knowledge is fundamental to the future of humanity

The New Wealth of Cities John Montgomery, 2017-09-29 Over the past two decades city economies have restructured in response to the decline of older industries This has involved new forms of planning and urban economic development a return to traditional concerns of city building and a focus on urban design During this period there has also been a marked rise in our understanding of cultural development and its role in the design economy and life of cities In this book John Montgomery argues that this amounts to a shift in urban development He provides a long overdue look at the dynamics of the city that is how cities work in relation to the long cycles of economic development and suggests that a new wave of prosperity built on new technologies and new industries is just getting underway in the Western world The New Wealth of Cities focuses on what effect this will have on cities and city regions and how they should react Original and wide ranging this book will be a definitive resource on city economies and urban planning explaining why it is that cities develop over time in periods of propulsive growth and bouts of decline
