The New Of Knowledge The Young Peoples Of The Year:

Youth Knowledge Development Report ,1980 Children and Young People as Knowledge Producers Gina

Porter, Janet Townsend, Kate Hampshire, 2020-06-09 Despite the widespread promotion of children's voices by activists and policy makers over the last decade the potential for young people's knowledge to impact on adult agendas and policy arenas is by no means a certainty This book presents critiques of participation in settings where young people are the centre of attention The complexities and power dynamics of youth adult relationships are observed and analysed in a wide diversity of study environments from Hull to Sao Paulo rural Lesotho to Ghana using varied methods and over different time frames but with a strong focus throughout on context practice impacts and associated ethical considerations The central concern of the book is not whether young people can produce better knowledge than adults but rather how to better understand the different knowledges which emerge from diverse actors within different generations in order to ensure that the maximum benefits accrue to children and young people with and for whom the research is conducted This book was originally published as a special issue of Children's Geographies The Evolution of Young People's Spatial Knowledge Ignacio

Castillo Ulloa, Anna Juliane Heinrich, Angela Million, Jona Schwerer, 2023-09-07 Young people imagine perceive experience talk about use and produce space in a wide variety of ways In doing so they acquire and produce stocks of spatial knowledge A quite dynamic and ever changing process by nature young people's production and acquisition of spatial knowledge are susceptible to many kinds of conditions from those that shape their everyday routines to those that constitute historical turning points Against this backdrop and drawing on a qualitative metaanalysis the authors set out to discover what changes the spatial knowledge of young people has undergone during the past five decades To that end sixty published studies were sampled analyzed and synthesized to offer a meta interpretation in terms of both the evolution of young people's spatial knowledge and the refiguration of spaces As such this book will appeal to scholars conducting spatial research on childhood and youth as well as scholars interested in urban studies from diverse disciplines such as sociology anthropology geography architecture urban planning and design The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license The Open Access fee was funded by Technische Universität Berlin
