The Of Canadian Fishes:

Freshwater Fishes of Canada William Beverley Scott, Edwin John Crossman, 1973 The Fisheries Research Board is proud to present this volume a tribute to the cooperation between the government agency that initiated and supported the work and the research organization that carried it out It is the hope of the authors that this text will perform a useful service by highlighting the lack of information on many aspects of the biology of many Canadian fish species Particularly glaring is our ignorance of the basic life history of many common species

Pacific Fishes of Canada John Lawson Hart, 1973 This book includes the fishes found in salt water off the Canadian coast providing descriptions of 325 kinds of fishes 54 of which are new The arrangement of species follows that proposed by Greenwood et al 1966 as interpreted by Bailey et al 1970 Common names recommended by the latter authors were used when available otherwise names were based on describers recommendations or informal usage Each species account is headed by a common name followed by the scientific name and comments on the derivations of names and their previous use Other information given includes a description of shape fins skin colour largest size recorded features used for recognition and distribution

Encyclopedia of Canadian Fishes Brian W. Coad, Henry Waszczuk, Italo Labignan, 1995

Synopsis of the Parasites of Fishes of Canada T. E. McDonald, L. Margolis, National Research Council Canada, Pacific Biological Station, 1995 Information on the parasites of Canadian fishes published between the years 1978 and 1993 inclusive is assembled as Parasite Host and Host Parasite lists The 925 named species of parasites are reported on 292 species of Canadian fishes The Parasite Host list is organized on a taxonomic basis and identifies for each species its habitat freshwater marine or brackish site of occurrence in its host s species host s known geographic distribution within Canadian waters and the published source for each host and locality record The Host Parasite list is organized according to the taxonomy of the hosts and is accompanied by data on the known Canadian distribution of the parasites For both the Parasite Host and Host Parasite lists a Remarks section containing explanatory comments concerning systematics nomenclature and notes on other specific items is included as warranted In addition to listing the cited references as supplementary list of references is included to cover other Canadian literature on fish parasites

Guide to the Parasites of Fishes of Canada David I. Gibson, 1984 This guide arranges information on trematode parasites of Canadian fishes by subclass Aspidogastrea and Digenea order superfamily family subfamily and genera No descriptions are included for individual species because of the large number of taxa involved but illustrations of members of each genus are provided Data supplied in the guide include scientific name synonyms the position or organ in the fish where the parasite has been reported hosts distribution in Canadian waters authors responsible for the published records of a particular parasite and comments on the systematics nomenclature records or other aspects of the biology of the parasite Diagnoses are presented for all taxa down to generic level and keys are included down to the species level

Zacher, 2011-11-01 Since the 1960s there have been intensive international negotiations to revise the law of the sea These discussions culminated in the convening of the Third United Nations Conference on the Law of the Sea in December 1973 and in four additional sessions up to September 1976 Whether the almost 150 participating states will be able to reach an accord in 1977 or later on the myriad issues on their agenda is still uncertain Two major issues have been the extension of coastal state jurisdiction over resources and activities and the establishment of an international regime to govern the exploitation of the deep seabed Canada's most significant role has been that of a leader of the coastal state grouping which has sought to expand states jurisdiction over fisheries seabed resources scientific research and pollution control within a 200 mile economic zone and sometimes beyond A number of these Canadian policy goals have already been accepted by a large majority of the participants in the conference In this role Canada has found itself opposed to many of its traditional allies among the developed nations with large fleets engaged in commerce in distant waters and concerned about the traditional freedom of the high seas and has aligned itself with the coastal developing nations of Africa Asia and Latin America The seven essays in this volume examine the development of Canadian policies on the major law of the sea issues and the outcome of the negotiations on them In so doing the studies have analysed Canada's dramatic seaward expansion and involvement in one of the most important United Nations Conferences The 1978 United States-Canadian Reciprocal Fisheries Agreement United States.
