

Pastoral

The Dove walks with sticky feet
Upon the green crowns of the almond tree,
Its feathers smeared over with warmth
Like honey
That dips lazily down into the shadow ...

Anyone standing in that orchard. So filled with peace and sleep,
Would hardly have noticed the hill
Nearby
With its three strange wooden arms
Lifted above a throng of motionless people
- Above the helmets of Pilate's soldiers
Flashing like silver teeth in the sun.

The New Pastoral Thomas Buchanan Read,1856      The New Pastoral: [a Poem] Thomas Buchanan Read,2004-01-01

The New Pastoral in Contemporary British Writing Deborah Lilley,2019-10-10 This book identifies a major turn in contemporary British literature in response to environmental crisis It argues that the pastoral is emerging as a new critical framework in which to explore the understanding of people and place in this context The New Pastoral in Contemporary British Writing explores how the pastoral tradition has transformed as authors respond to our changing relationships with place in this period Analysing the features common to new pastoral writing it brings together a corpus of works from major authors including Ali Smith Jim Crace John Burnside Kathleen Jamie and Robert Macfarlane This book argues that crises such as pollution and climate change have shifted our understandings of the key relationships of pastoral and the terms upon which they are based giving new senses to its older oppositions between the human and the natural the urban and the rural and the past and the present Furthermore it shows that the versions of pastoral that ensue align with current ecocritical arguments produced by thinking through the individual cultural and ecological implications of environmental crisis As a result pastoral emerges as the crucial strategy in the re imagining of the environment underway in contemporary British writing the resurgence of interest in nature writing the increasing attention towards place in literary fiction and the development of ecological or climate fiction This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of English as well as those concerned with the interdisciplinary topics of the environmental humanities including literary geographies new nature writing cultures of climate change and the Anthropocene and ecologically oriented theory      The House by the Sea a Poem, by Thomas Buchanan Read Thomas Buchanan Read,1855      The House of the Sea. drawn from a single discipline this collection reflects the myriad performance options available to London audiences offering readers a composite portrait of the music drama and dance productions that characterized this rich period Just as the performing arts were deeply interrelated the essays presented here by scholars from a range of fields engage in dialogue with others in the volume The opening section examines a famous series of 1701 performances based on the competition between composers to set William Congreve's masque The Judgment of Paris to music. The essays in the central section, the mainpiece, showcase performers and productions on the London stage from a variety of perspectives including English tastes in art and music, the use of dance, the depiction of madness and masculinity in both spoken and musical performances, and genres and modes in the context of contemporary criticism and theatrical practice. A brief afterpiece looks at comic pieces in relation to satire, parody, and homage. By bringing together work by scholars of music, dance, and drama, this cross-disciplinary collection illuminates the interconnecting strands that shaped a vibrant theatrical world. English Poetry of the Eighteenth Century, 1700-1789 David Fairer, 2014-10-13

In recent years the canon of eighteenth-century poetry has greatly expanded to include women poets, labouring class and provincial poets, and many previously unheard voices. Fairer's book takes up the challenge this ought to pose to our traditional understanding of the subject. This book seeks to question some of the structures, categories, and labels that have given the age its reassuring shape in literary history. In doing so, Fairer offers a fresh and detailed look at a wide range of material. Cervantes the Poet Gabrielle Ponce-Hegenauer, 2023-05-25

Cervantes the Poet travels from the court of Isabel de Valois to Rome, Naples, Palermo, Algiers, and Madrid's barrio de las letras. Recovering Cervantes' nearly forty-year literary career before the publication of Don Quijote, Gabrielle Ponce-Hegenauer demonstrates the cultural, literary, and theoretical significance of Cervantes' status as a late sixteenth-century itinerant poet. This study recovers the generative literary milieu and cultural practices of Spain's most famous novelist in order to posit a new theory of the modern novel as an organic transformation of lyric practices native to the late sixteenth century and Cervantes' own literary outlook. The Poetry Toolkit: The Essential Guide to Studying Poetry Rhian Williams, 2013-01-17 With examples from an extensive range of poets from Chaucer to today, The Poetry Toolkit offers simple and clear explanations of key terms, genres, and concepts that enable readers to develop a richer, more sophisticated approach to reading, thinking, and writing about poems. Combining an easy-to-use reference format, defining and illustrating key concepts, forms, and topics with in-depth practice readings and further exercises, the book helps students master the study of poetry for themselves. Now in its second edition, The Poetry Toolkit includes a wider range of examples from contemporary poetry and more American poetry. In addition, an extended close-reading section now offers practice comparative readings of the kind students are most likely to be asked to undertake, as well as readings informed by contemporary environmental and urban approaches. The book is also supported by extensive online resources, including podcasts, weblinks, guides to further reading, and advanced study guides to reading poetry theoretically. The Cultural Milieu of Addison's Literary Criticism Lee Andrew Elioseff, 2014-09-01

The whole history of literary criticism is illuminated by this analysis of one English critic's work. It is, in effect, a literary case study presented as a partial answer to the complicated question: what cultural conditions are conducive to the development of a particular theory of literature? Initially, Lee Andrew Elioseff defines four difficult responsibilities of the historian of criticism the interpretation of his material in terms of all the cultural circumstances that produced it elimination of the purely chance elements such as private feuds and unimportant personal tastes consideration of those aspects of criticism that best indicate the dominant critical opinions of the age and the principles that are leading it and illumination of the present critical situation Concentrating upon the first three of these obligations Elioseff seeks the sources of modern literary criticism in the works of Joseph Addison and his contemporaries analyzing with great care and accuracy their responses to problems both literary and nonliterary in their culture From the analysis Addison emerges as a very significant figure a critic who moved from Renaissance and neoclassical humanism and became one of the most important predecessors of romantic criticism a formulator of what was to become the emotive strain in literary criticism an essayist who raised many problems shared by the modern psychological critic whose immediate concern is the effect of the literature upon its audience Drawing abundantly from a wide knowledge of philosophy literature and history and exercising an incisive critical acumen Elioseff discusses Addison s criticism in three aspects The Critical Milieu an interpretation of Addison s relation to his age as it influenced his views on tragedy epic poetry and ballads Addison and Eighteenth Century England a consideration of contemporary political thought morals and theology and the Empirical Tradition an analysis of Addison s critical views as expressed in The Pleasures of the Imagination The Poets and Poetry of America Rufus Wilmot Griswold,1856      A Dictionary of General Biography William Leist Readwin Cates,1875      A Companion to Romantic Poetry Charles Mahoney,2010-12-21 Through a series of 34 essays by leading and emerging scholars A Companion to Romantic Poetry reveals the rich diversity of Romantic poetry and shows why it continues to hold such a vital and indispensable place in the history of English literature Breaking free from the boundaries of the traditionally studied authors the collection takes a revitalized approach to the field and brings together some of the most exciting work being done at the present time Emphasizes poetic form and technique rather than a biographical approach Features essays on production and distribution and the different schools and movements of Romantic Poetry Introduces contemporary contexts and perspectives as well as the issues and debates that continue to drive scholarship in the field Presents the most comprehensive and compelling collection of essays on British Romantic poetry currently available
