The New Politics of European Integration Ghita Ionescu,1972      The New Politics of Class Geoffrey Evans,James Tilley,2017-02-16 This book explores the new politics of class in 21st century Britain It shows how the changing shape of the class structure since 1945 has led political parties to change which has both reduced class voting and increased class non voting This argument is developed in three stages The first is to show that there has been enormous social continuity in class divisions The authors demonstrate this using extensive evidence on class and educational inequality perceptions of inequality identity and awareness and political attitudes over more than fifty years The second stage is to show that there has been enormous political change in response to changing class sizes Party policies politicians rhetoric and the social composition of political elites have radically altered Parties offer similar policies appeal less to specific classes and are populated by people from more similar backgrounds Simultaneously the mass media have stopped talking about the politics of class The third stage is to show that these political changes have had three major consequences First as Labour and the Conservatives became more similar class differences in party preferences disappeared Second new parties most notably UKIP have taken working class voters from the mainstream parties Third and most importantly the lack of choice offered by the mainstream parties has led to a huge increase in class based abstention from voting Working class people have become much less likely to vote In that sense Britain appears to have followed the US down a path of working class political exclusion ultimately undermining the representativeness of our democracy They conclude with a discussion of the Brexit referendum and the role that working class alienation played in its historic outcome      The New Politics of Regionalism Ulf Engel,Heidrun Zinecker,Frank Mattheis,Antje Dietze,Thomas Plötze,2016-10-04 This edited volume approaches regionalism as one potential pattern in a changing global order Since the end of the Cold War different forms of territorialization have emerged and we are confronted with an increasing number and variety of actors that are establishing regional projects This volume offers an innovative contribution to the study of this new complexity by exploring constellations of regional actors spatial scales and imaginations beyond state centred perspectives as well as on multiple often overlapping levels The chapters analyse the emergence trajectories and outcomes of regionalisms from the perspective of the Global South specifically concentrating on regional projects in Latin America and Africa but also in the Asia Pacific They attempt to identify the specific conditions and junctures of different forms of region making in their external global and internal local national dimensions The volume also places special emphasis on interactions spatial entanglements and comparisons between regionalisms in different parts of the world By expanding beyond the perspective of North South transfers this book seeks to better understand the dynamics and diversity of interregional interactions This volume will appeal to scholars of global studies international political economy international relations human geography and development studies as well as area studies specialists who focus on Latin America and Africa      Ehe New Politics of European Integration Ghita Ionescu,1972      Politics in the European Union
