

The News Twisters

by Edith Efron

This powerfully documented analysis explodes the myth of network neutrality in reporting the news. It demonstrates that coverage of the Presidential campaign of 1968 was massively slanted against Richard Nixon by all three network news departments and defines the pattern of bias in political coverage that has antagonized the right, the left, and the blacks. Includes a graphic demonstration of thirty-three ways in which news stories are slanted.

Based on a research study conducted by the author with Clytia M. Chambers for The Historical Research Foundation.

The News Twisters:

The News Twisters Edith Efron, 1971 The News Shapers Lawrence C. Soley, 1992-04-20 Analysts political scientists scholars and consultants The News Shapers describes the elite club of individuals that the media approach for inside information background or predictions concerning the outcome of still unfolding stories Although they are presented as detached experts Lawrence C Soley uncovers their long histories of partisanship as former government officials or politicians and charges that most of the shapers have no better credentials than the millions of people to whom the news media never turn Soley's findings based on a University of Minnesota study which examined three major networks evening newscasts during 1987-1988 reveal that a small number of white politically conservative men associated with Washington based think tanks former Republican administrations and private East Coast universities virtually monopolize political discourse in the mass media Dispelling the myth of the media's liberal bias Soley discusses the shortcomings of both print and broadcast journalism which lead to selection of partisan news analysts and the effects of their commentaries on foreign and domestic affairs Special attention is given to Henry Kissinger Washington Think Tanks and the media's handling of the conflict with Iraq The News Shapers identifies the experts their past political affiliations and their often thin academic credentials It is highly recommended for scholars in communications journalism and political science as well as for newspaper readers and television news viewers Why Americans Hate the Media and How It Matters Jonathan M. Ladd, 2011-12-05 As recently as the early 1970s the news media was one of the most respected institutions in the United States Yet by the 1990s this trust had all but evaporated Why has confidence in the press declined so dramatically over the past 40 years And has this change shaped the public's political behavior This book examines waning public trust in the institutional news media within the context of the American political system and looks at how this lack of confidence has altered the ways people acquire political information and form electoral preferences Jonathan Ladd argues that in the 1950s 60s and early 70s competition in American party politics and the media industry reached historic lows When competition later intensified in both of these realms the public's distrust of the institutional media grew leading the public to resist the mainstream press's information about policy outcomes and turn toward alternative partisan media outlets As a result public beliefs and voting behavior are now increasingly shaped by partisan predispositions Ladd contends that it is not realistic or desirable to suppress party and media competition to the levels of the mid twentieth century rather in the contemporary media environment new ways to augment the public's knowledgeability and responsiveness must be explored Drawing on historical evidence experiments and public opinion surveys this book shows that in a world of endless news sources citizens trust in institutional media is more important than ever before The Republican Noise Machine David Brock, 2005 Bestselling author David Brock
