An Anthology of Women's Travel Writings Shirley Foster, Sara Mills, 2002 This anthology aims to challenge stereotypes of women travellers Rather than simply presenting writings by Victorian women who travelled bravely around the world disregarding social convention and danger the editors present a range of writing and possible ways of being a woman traveller As well as the eccentric woman traveller the editors have included writings by those who might be seen as failed travellers cautious and conventional travellers and those who did not conform to the adventurous heroine stereotype Because travelling as a woman and writing as a woman presents the author with a number of textual problems which must be negotiated Foster and Mills have chosen to include writings which confronted these problems and which resolved them or did not resolve them in different ways These textual problems include the depiction of other women the representation of spatial relations the negotiations undertaken in relation to the adventure heroine narrative and character and the position taken by the author in relation to the representation of knowledge These issues are all crucial in relation to travel writing by women and the women whose writing has been collected together in this anthology have made bold decisions in relation to them

Battlefield Tourism David William Lloyd, 2014-07-31 In the aftermath of the Great War a wave of tourists and pilgrims visited the battlefields cemeteries and memorials of the war The cultural history of this battlefield tourism is chronicled in this absorbing and original book which shows how the phenomenon served to construct memory in Britain as well as in Australia and Canada The author demonstrates that high and low culture tradition and modernism the sacred and the profane were often inter related rather than polar opposites The various responses to the actual and imagined landscapes of battlefields are discussed as well as bereavement and how this was shaped by gender religion and the military experience Individual memory and experience combined with nationalism and imperial identity as powerful forces informing the pilgrim experience But this book not only analyzes travel to battlefields which unsurprisingly paralleled the growth of the modern tourist industry it also looks closely at the transformation of national war memorials into pilgrimage sites and shows how responses both to battlefields and memorials which continue to serve as potent symbols evolved in the years after the Great War

Dark, funny, profane, erudite, bawdy, and wickedly original. New York Times bestselling author Jeff VanderMeer. Hegel and Manfred Grossbart may not consider themselves bad men, but death still stalks them through the dark woods of medieval Europe. The year is 1364, and the brothers Grossbart have embarked on a naive quest for fortune. Descended from a long line of graverobbers, they are determined to follow their family's footsteps to the fabled crypts of Gypthland. To get there, they will have to brave dangerous and unknown lands and keep company with all manner of desperate travelers, merchants, priests, and scoundrels alike. For theirs is a world both familiar and distant, a world of living saints and livelier demons, of monsters and madmen. The Brothers Grossbart are about to discover that all legends have their truths, and worse fates than death await those who would take the red road of villainy.

A Nile Anthology Deborah Manley, Sahar Abdel-Hakim, 2015. The stretch of the longest river in the world that nurtured the world's first great civilization has drawn and impressed visitors since ancient times. The Greeks were fascinated by the mysterious annual flood of the Nile that brought both water and nourishing silt to the lands along its banks, while nineteenth-century travelers were amazed by the magnificent tombs and temples of Upper Egypt. A Nile Anthology brings together the accounts and reflections of visitors and travelers to the Nile between Luxor and Aswan through the ages, from Herodotus in the fifth century BC and the Arab geographers of medieval times to such nineteenth-century luminaries as Amelia Edwards, Florence Nightingale, Jean François Champollion, Edward Lane, and Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. From the practicalities of river travel to descriptions of the pharaonic monuments, via the sights, sounds, and smells of the teeming souks, our writers guide us through a world and an age long gone.
