THE NORTHERN AND CENTRAL NOOTKAN TRIBES PHILIP DRUCKER,1951 Northern and Central Nootkan Tribes, by Philip Drucker. [Bureau of American Ethnology Bulletin 144.],1949 The Northern and Central Nootkan Tribes Philip Drucker, NORTHERN AND CENTRAL NOOTKAN TRIBES PHILIP. DRUCKER,2018 The Northern and Central Nootkan Tribes \(Classic Reprint\) Philip Drucker,2016-06-27 Excerpt from The Northern and Central Nootkan Tribes The material for this report was collected in 1935 36 with the assistance of a pre doctoral Research Fellowship granted by the Social Science Research Council The research problem was to de termine the bases of social stratification I had no intention of diverging from the specific problem to collect data for a general ethnography but I soon found that the societal factors could not be isolated without forcing the material For example with various economic property rights as important as they were to the status of the nobles or chiefs the fact that a chief owned a salmon trap of one kind and a man of lesser rank a trap of another type makes it necessary for the field worker to learn what the different types of salmon traps were to see if there was anything of significance in the two specific cases he has recorded Again one cannot evaluate the significance of the ownership of particular ritual privileges by chiefs without knowing the whole ceremonial Before long I found that my quest for the basic forces of social organization were leading me into all phases of the culture economy technology ceremonialism and the rest so I ended up trying to round out the picture The aim however was always to relate these topics to the problems of the social structure About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works The Northern and Central Nootkan Tribes Philip Drucker,1951 Account of Indians of west coast of Vancouver Island Indians of the North Pacific Coast Tom McFeat,1989 Culture and tradition of the Indians of the Pacific Northwest Islands of Truth Daniel Clayton,2011-11-01 In Islands of Truth Daniel Clayton examines a series of encounters with the Native peoples and territory of Vancouver Island in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries Although he focuses on a particular region and period Clayton also meditates on how representations of land and people and studies of the past serve and shape specific interests and how the dawn of Native Western contact in this part of the world might be studied 200 years later in the light of ongoing struggles between Natives and non Natives over land and cultural status Between the 1770s and 1850s the Native people of Vancouver Island were engaged by three sets of forces that were of general importance in the history of Western overseas expansion the West s scientific exploration of the world in the Age of Enlightenment capitalist practices of exchange and the geopolitics of nation state rivalry Islands of Truth discusses these developments the geographies they worked through and the stories about land identity and empire stemming from this period that have shaped understanding of British Columbia's past and present Clayton questions premises underlying much of present B C historical writing arguing that international literature offers more fruitful ways of framing local historical experiences Islands of Truth is a timely provocative and vital contribution to post colonial studies Adventures and Sufferings of John R. Singing the Songs of My Ancestors Linda Goodman, 2003 Ever since she was a small child Helma Swan the daughter of a Northwest Coast chief loved and learned the music of her people As an adult she began to sing even though traditionally Makah singers had been men How did such a situation develop In her own words Helma Swan tells the unusual story of her life her music and how she became a singer An excellent storyteller she speaks of both musical and non musical activities and events In addition to discussing song ownership and other Makah musical concepts she describes songs dances and potlatch ceremonies proper care of masks and costumes and changing views of Native music education More generally she speaks of cultural changes that have had profound effects on contemporary Makah life Drawing on more than twenty years of research and oral history interviews Linda J Goodman in Singing the Songs of My Ancestors presents a somewhat different point of view that of the anthropologist ethnomusicologist interested in Makah culture and history as well as the changing musical and ceremonial roles of Makah men and women Her information provides a context for Helma Swan's stories and songs Taken together the two perspectives allow the reader to embark on a vivid and absorbing journey through Makah life music and ceremony spanning most of the twentieth century Studies of American Indian women musicians are rare this is the first to focus on a Northwest Coast woman who is an outstanding singer and storyteller as well as a conservator of her tribe's cultural traditions Origin of the wolf ritual Edward Sapir, Morris Swadesh, Alexander Thomas, John Thomas, 2007-01-01

This last segment of the Sapir Thomas Nootka texts includes three first hand accounts of the Tlkwa na or Wolf Ritual a principal ceremony of the Nuuchahnulth First Nations of the West Coast of Vancouver Island The ritual which takes several days to enact is described in detail from the howling of the Wolves in human form to the abduction of children to their forest lair and the return of these initiates to perform newly learned dances Also included are Sapir's field record of a Tlkwa na of 1910 his correspondence with his chief interpreters Alex Thomas and Frank Williams and autobiographical stories by Alex Thomas Published in English The Sea is My Country Joshua L. Reid, 2015-01-01 The first full scale history of the Makah people of the Pacific Northwest whose culture and identity are closely bound to the sea For the Makahs a tribal nation at the most northwestern point of the contiguous United States a deep relationship with the sea is the locus of personal and group identity Unlike most other indigenous tribes whose lives are tied to lands the Makah people have long placed marine space at the center of their culture finding in their own waters the physical and spiritual resources to support themselves This book is the first to explore the history and identity of the Makahs from the arrival of maritime fur traders in the eighteenth century through the intervening centuries and to the present day Joshua L Reid discovers that the People of the Cape were far more involved in shaping the maritime economy of the Pacific Northwest than has been understood He examines Makah attitudes toward borders and boundaries their efforts to exercise control over their waters and resources as Europeans and then Americans arrived and their embrace of modern opportunities and technology to maintain autonomy and resist assimilation The author also addresses current environmental debates relating to the tribe s customary whaling and fishing rights and illuminates the efforts of the Makahs to regain control over marine space preserve their marine oriented identity and articulate a traditional future
