1 Processed Cheese J L Kraft grew up on a dairy farm in Stevensville Ontario While working as a grocer he was struck by the amount of cheese that was wasted on wheels of cheddar when the dried rind was scraped off to get at the fresh interior He resolved to find a way to use this waste product experimenting with double boilers preservatives and cheddar Eventually he found a way of stabilizing the dairy product that has come to be known as processed cheese 2 Frozen Foods The technology to freeze food quickly and transport it to markets far away was developed in Halifax in 1928 Within a year ice fillets were being sold to fish deprived Torontonians who loved the taste and didn't seem to mind the high price tag Despite this the fishing industry and private companies lost interest and quickly mothballed the project In 1930 a feisty American Colonel Clarence Birdseye claimed responsibility for developing frozen foods and promptly made a fortune 3 Pablum Invented in 1930 by Dr Alan Brown assisted by researchers Theodore Drake and Fred Tisdall The add water baby cereal revolutionized infant nutrition and of course became synonymous with food that was bland and mushy 4 Poutine Although many claim responsibility for the crowd pleasing combination of squeaky cheese curds canned gravy and french fries it is generally agreed that the first order of this regional specialty of Quebec was served up by restaurant owner Fernand Lachance in 1957 Many variations on the original recipe exist including one deluxe version with foie gras served in Montreal's Pied de Cochon bistro

On Being Blue William H. Gass, 2014-03-11 On Being Blue is a book about everything blue sex and sleaze and sadness among other things and about everything else It brings us the world in a word as only William H Gass among contemporary American writers can do Gass writes Of the colors blue and green have the greatest emotional range Sad reds and melancholy yellows are difficult to turn up Among the ancient elements blue occurs everywhere in ice and water in the flame as purely as in the flower overhead and inside caves covering fruit and oozing out of clay Although green enlivens the earth and mixes in the ocean and we find it copperish in fire green air green skies are rare Gray and brown are widely distributed but there are no joyful swatches of either or any of exuberant black sullen pink or acquiescent orange Blue is therefore most suitable as the color of interior life Whether slick light sharp high bright thin quick sour new and cool or low deep sweet dark soft slow smooth heavy old and warm blue moves easily among them all and all profoundly qualify our states of feeling

Revolting Families Carrie Smith, 2013-10-30 Revolting Families places the literary depiction of familial and intimate relations in 1960s West Germany against the backdrop of public discourse on the political significance of the private sphere Carrie Smith Prei focuses on debut works by German authors considered to be part of the new and black realism movements Dieter Wellershoff Rolf Dieter Brinkmann Gisela Elsner and Renate Rasp Each of the works by these authors uses depictions of neurosis disgust vertigo or violence to elicit a reaction in readers that calls them to political social or ethical action Revolting Families thus extends the concept of negativity which has long been part of post war German philosophical and aesthetic theory to the body in German literature and culture Through an analysis of these texts and of contextual discourse Smith Prei develops a theoretical concept of corporeal negativity that works to provoke socio political engagement with the private sphere

Waste-Site Stories Brian Neville, Johanne Villeneuve, 2012-02-01 Ours is a wasteful society consumed with care for its remains according to the contributors of Waste Site Stories Here scholars from around the world probe current notions of waste and the ways in which remains of different kinds recover value in the act of recollection and recycling In the wake of destructive experiences that continue to trouble memory there is something compelling about today's theoretical and artistic interest in waste and recycling. The two terms provide a purchase on changing conditions of cultural memory on technological development and its sometimes toxic ecological and social fallout and on the legacy of personal and historical trauma. They suggest new resources for the stories of our engagement with the things of the past and the sites where traces of history survive.

Spectacles of Waste Warwick Anderson, 2024-03-13. The modern bathroom is an ingenious compilation of locked doors, smooth porcelain, 4 ply tissue and antibacterial hand soap but despite this miracle of indoor plumbing we still can't bear the thought that anyone else should know that our bodies produce waste. Why must we live by the rules of this intense scatological embarrassment? In Spectacles of Waste, leading historian of medicine Warwick Anderson reveals how human excrement has always complicated humanity's attempts to become modern. From wastewater epidemiology and sewage snooping to fecal transplants and excremental art, he argues that our insistence on separating ourselves from our bodily waste has fundamentally shaped our philosophies, social theories, literature and art, even the emergence of high tech science as we understand it today. Written with verve and aplomb, Anderson's expert analysis reveals how in recent years humanity has doubled down on abstracting and datafying our most abject waste and unconsciously underlined its biopolitical signature across our lives.

German Ecocriticism in the Anthropocene Caroline Schaumann, Heather I. Sullivan, 2017-04-18. This book offers essays on both canonical and non canonical German language texts and films, advancing ecocritical models for German Studies and introducing environmental issues in German literature and film to a broader audience. This volume contextualizes the broad ranging topics and authors in terms of the Anthropocene, beginning with Goethe and the Romantics and extending into twenty first century literature and film. Addressing the growing need for environmental awareness in an international humanities curriculum, this book complements ecocritical analyses emerging from North American and British studies with a specifically German Studies perspective, opening the door to a transnational understanding of how the environment plays an integral role in cultural, political and economic issues.

Pandemonium Gibson Burrell, 1997-02-13. A truly bizarre and sometimes filthy historical canter through abattoirs, satyriasis and Noel Edmonds' House Party among other things, towards a theory of organisation. The Times. The author pursues a vigorous polemic on organisational development. Financial Times. In this irreverent and inventive book, Gibson Burrell seeks to circumvent the established frameworks which have defined our understanding of organization and organizations. He brings us tales from under the edge which enmesh us in the nether side of modernist organization. By looking backwards deep into the history of Western societies and sideways across the broad domain of social and cultural theory, Pandemonium disconcerts and invigorates the domain of the study of organizations. Through his experimental device of the two directional text, Burrell offers multi layered meanings and a metaphor for the rejection of linearity This is not an organizational behaviour textbook but an exploration that will take organization theory into a new era Locating China Jing Wang,2007-05-07 Taking a multidisciplinary approach this volume examines the relationship between space and the production of local popular culture in contemporary China The international team of contributors examine the inter relationship between the cultural imaginary of a given place and China s continuing drive towards urbanization This has led to the development of new spaces and places and new forms of spatial practices that destabilize old concepts of the local and locality Delivering ethnographic observations and theoretical speculations this work furthers our understanding of the link between spatial thinking and the production of consumer culture in China
