Youth-full Productions Nancy Ares, 2010 The grounding concept of this book is that youth are active agents in creating cultural practices and social spaces Drawing from disciplines including anthropology sociology education and cultural studies the chapters examine practices that youth who are members of traditionally marginalized groups develop through engagement in the varied contexts of their everyday lives Each chapter treats communities language communication and interaction patterns and culturally derived practices as valuable resources youth bring to the tasks and situations they negotiate across time and space The combination of chapters that fall within traditions of social and cultural foundations with those that fall within disciplinary learning focused approaches sets this book apart Across the chapters notions of youth as active agents in the production of knowledge selves and practice are illuminated by focusing on how youth participate in construction of assemblages of historically derived practices evolving relations of power discourses and new social cultural forms and practices The book also includes the editor's responses to the two main sections of the work a conversation in writing aimed at making explicit both what ties the chapters within the sections together and the broader implications of the combined and unique contributions
