on June 3 1978 he ended a life that had been inextricably linked with poetry since childhood Deeply influential but largely unknown outside his corner of the poetry world this prodigy of the American South inspired a cult following that has kept his reputation and work flickering on the periphery of the American literary tradition ever since The Life and Poetry of Frank Stanford offers for the first time a comprehensive study of Stanford's life and work introducing to a broad readership poetry that remains both captivating to poets and in its celebration of everyday experience over academic erudition accessible to those who rarely read poetry Stanford's poems range from one line to his 15 283 line epic The Battlefield Where the Moon Says I Love You The vital thread running through all of his poetry is an ear for language that vies with Walt Whitman in its expansiveness and generosity Stanford's omnivorous attraction to vernacular particularly Black and rural vernacular centered on an admiration for the marginalized and eccentric Blending the Southern Gothic of Faulkner and O'Connor with a racially egalitarian vision his poetry thrives on the stories and traditions of the oppressed and forgotten The themes that preoccupied Stanford's prolific output language sex death class geography commercialism surrealism film race also preoccupied the poet in his daily life which was marked by heavy drinking philandering mental instability emotional abuse and through it all an inveterate desire for beauty Constantly attentive to this tension biographer James McWilliams traces the short and painfully complicated life of this hidden talent who left a lifetime's worth of poetry that through its grounding in the mundane achieved a vision of the transcendent

Northrop Frye's Late Notebooks, 1982-1990 Northrop Frye, 2000-01-01 An inveterate notebook keeper Northrop Frye continually jotted down his ideas and thoughts as he worked through the complex schemes of his criticism Volumes 5 and 6 of the Collected Works are the notebooks that he kept while writing his two final books Words with Power and The Double Vision They provide a record of what he was reading and thinking as he struggled with the implications of those projects In a sense they are the workshops out of which the books were constructed While focusing on the works in progress the 3684 entries presented here range over diverse territory never failing to surprise delight and provoke In these notebooks for instance we find comments triggered by a detective story Frye is reading a lecture he has to prepare a glance at the books on his shelves a quotation he remembers a letter received or the memory of a trip In many respects the notebooks reveal a Frye who is quite different from the critic who made his reputation with Fearful Symmetry and Anatomy of Criticism displaying aspects of his personality and thought that are not apparent in his books and essays The notebooks show us the unbuttoned Frye a complex man capable of both spiritual transcendence and hard headed pragmatism Here for instance his criticism of Catholicism is far more acerbic than in anything he published Likewise his rejection of both Marxist and feminist ideology is far more pointed than elsewhere These two volumes include seven of Frye s handwritten notebooks and five collections of his typed notebooks all previously unpublished The material is the record of an extraordinary intellectual odyssey an odyssey that is at its base deeply spiritual
