Lady's Realm ,1903      The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record of British and Foreign Literature ,1904      The Sympathetic Medium Jill Galvan,2011-03-15 The nineteenth century saw not only the emergence of the telegraph the telephone and the typewriter but also a fascination with s ances and occult practices like automatic writing as a means for contacting the dead Like the new technologies modern spiritualism promised to link people separated by space or circumstance and like them as well it depended on the presence of a human medium to convey these conversations Whether electrical or otherworldly these communications were remarkably often conducted in offices at telegraph stations and telephone switchboards and in s ance parlors by women In The Sympathetic Medium Jill Galvan offers a richly nuanced and culturally grounded analysis of the rise of the female medium in Great Britain and the United States during the Victorian era and through the turn of the century Examining a wide variety of fictional explorations of feminine channeling in both the technological and supernatural realms by such authors as Henry James George Eliot Arthur Conan Doyle Bram Stoker Marie Corelli and George Du Maurier Galvan argues that women were often chosen for that role or assumed it themselves because they made at a distance dialogues seem more intimate less mediated Two allegedly feminine traits sympathy and a susceptibility to automatism enabled women to disappear into their roles as message carriers Anchoring her literary analysis in discussions of social economic and scientific culture Galvan finds that nineteenth and early twentieth century feminization of mediated communication reveals the challenges that the new networked culture presented to prevailing ideas of gender dialogue privacy and the relationship between body and self      The Annual American Catalog, 1900-1909 ,1906

the Shadow of Rome Sarah J. Butler, 2012-10-11 Drawing on new primary source evidence this volume evaluates ancient Rome's influence on an English intellectual tradition from the 1850s to the 1920s as politicians, scientists, economists and social reformers addressed three fundamental debates of the period: Empire, Nation and City. These debates emerged as a result of political, economic and social change both in the Empire and Britain and coalesced around issues of degeneracy, morality and community. As ideas of political freedom were subsumed by ideas of civilization best preserved by technocratic governance, the political and historical focus on Republican Rome was gradually displaced by interest in the Imperial period of the Roman emperors. Moreover, as the spectre of the British Empire and Nation in decline increased towards the turn of the nineteenth century, the reception of Imperial Rome itself was transformed. By the 1920s, following the end of World War I, Imperial Rome was conjured into a new framework echoing that of the British Empire and appealing to the surging nationalistic mood.

Boys in Khaki, Girls in Print Jane Potter, 2005 Generously illustrated Boys in Khaki, Girls in Print is a scholarly yet accessible illumination of a hitherto untapped resource of women's writing and makes an important new contribution to the study of the literature of the Great War.

BOOK JACKET Class, Politics, and the Decline of Deference in England, 1968-2000 Florence Sutcliffe-Braithwaite, 2018 In late twentieth century England, inequality was rocketing yet some have suggested that the politics of class was declining in significance while others argue that class identities lost little power. Neither interpretation is satisfactory: class remained important to ordinary people's narratives about social change and their own identities throughout the period 1968-2000 but in changing ways. Using self-narratives drawn from a wide range of sources, the raw materials of sociological studies, transcripts from oral history projects, Mass Observation and autobiography, the book examines class identities and narratives of social change between 1968 and 2000, showing that by the end of the period, class was often seen as an historical identity related to background and heritage and that many felt strict class boundaries had blurred quite profoundly since 1945. Class snobberies went underground as many people from all backgrounds began to assert that what was important was authenticity, individuality and ordinariness. In fact, Sutcliffe-Braithwaite argues that it is more useful to understand the cultural changes of these years through the lens of the decline of deference, which transformed people's attitudes towards class and towards politics. The study also examines the claim that Thatcher and New Labour wrote class out of politics, arguing that this simple and highly political narrative misses important points. Thatcher was driven by political ideology and necessity to try to dismiss the importance of class while the New Labour project was good at listening to voters, particularly swing voters in marginal seats and echoing back what they were increasingly saying about the blurring of class lines and the importance of ordinariness. But this did not add up to an abandonment of a majoritarian project as New Labour reoriented their political project to emphasize using the state to empower the individual.

Women Against the Vote Julia Bush, 2007-10-04 British women who resisted their own enfranchisement were ridiculed by the suffragists and have since been neglected by historians. Yet these women claimed to form a majority of the female public on the eve of the First World War Julia Bush rediscovers the history of female anti suffragism in Britain The Bookman ,1904 The Decay of Home Life in England Marie Corelli,2005-12 This scarce antiquarian book is a facsimile reprint of the original Due to its age it may contain imperfections such as marks notations marginalia and flawed pages Because we believe this work is culturally important we have made it available as part of our commitment for protecting preserving and promoting the world s literature in affordable high quality modern editions that are true to the original work The Child-Parent Caregiving Relationship in Later Life Bethany Morgan Brett,2023-07-04 This book presents a sensitive account of the challenges faced by adult children when making difficult decisions about care for and with their ageing parents in later life It offers new insights into the practical emotional and physical effects that witnessing the ageing and death of parents has on those in late midlife and how these relationships are negotiated during this phase of the life course The author uses a psychosocial approach to understand the complexity of the experience of having a parent transition to care and the ambiguous feelings that these decisions evoke Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record of British and Foreign Literature ,1904 Church Review and Ecclesiastical Register ,1888 Home Improvement in Aotearoa New Zealand and the UK Rosie Cox,2021-05-30 This book examines experiences of home improvement in the UK and Aotearoa New Zealand providing valuable insight into the ways in which people make and maintain home in social material and economic context Drawing on in depth interviews examining both DIY projects and projects carried out by professional handymen Rosie Cox explores how home improvement fits into wider social relationships and structures of inequality Consideration is given to the importance of such work for gender and national identities and how these identities are related to material contexts and the forms and fabric of homes The book also highlights how home improvement can be a rewarding and valuable form of work as well as an unrewarding and alienating endeavour It will be of interest to scholars from a range of disciplines including anthropology sociology and human geography The Country Home ,1910 Woman and Society Meyrick Booth,2024-11-20 First published in 1929 the foreword begins We live in an age of rapidly changing values This must be my excuse for adding another to the long list of books dealing with the Education Life and Work of Woman Nearly all the more important works in this field were published before the war Since those days everything has changed The immense development of Psychology in particular has opened up new social perspectives and looking down these we find that the whole problem of Woman in relation to Society takes on a new form Woman and Society was a systematic attempt to review the whole question afresh from the standpoint of modern science psychology biology and eugenics a searching and impartial discussion of problems felt to be of vital significance at the time Today it is a look back at how women were viewed in the early twentieth century This book is a re issue originally published in 1929 The language used and views portrayed are a reflection of its era and no offence is meant by the Publishers to any reader by this re publication Catalogue of the Mercantile Library of Philadelphia ohne Autor,2020-04-08 Reprint of the original first Lets delve into the realm of top-selling books, exploring the engaging narratives that have charmed audiences this year. The Decay Of Home Life In England : Colleen Hoover "It Ends with Us" This poignant tale of love, loss, and resilience has captivated readers with its raw and emotional exploration of domestic abuse. Hoover skillfully weaves a story of hope and healing, reminding us that even in the darkest of times, the human spirit can succeed. The Decay Of Home Life In England : Taylor Jenkins Reids "The Seven Husbands of Evelyn Hugo" This captivating historical fiction novel unravels the life of Evelyn Hugo, a Hollywood icon who defies expectations and societal norms to pursue her dreams. Reids captivating storytelling and compelling characters transport readers to a bygone era, immersing them in a world of glamour, ambition, and self-discovery. Discover the Magic : Delia Owens "Where the Crawdads Sing" This mesmerizing coming-of-age story follows Kya Clark, a young woman who grows up alone in the marshes of North Carolina. Owens crafts a tale of resilience, survival, and the transformative power of nature, entrancing readers with its evocative prose and mesmerizing setting. These bestselling novels represent just a fraction of the literary treasures that have emerged in 2023. Whether you seek tales of romance, adventure, or personal growth, the world of literature offers an abundance of captivating stories waiting to be discovered. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a exceptional and gripping novel that will keep you wondering until the very end. The novel is a cautionary tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
