The Delicate Creation Towards A Theology Of The Environment:

The Delicate Creation: Towards a Theology of the Environment Christopher Derrick,1972-01-01 The delicate creation; towards a theology of the environment: towards a theology of the environment Christopher Derrick,1972 The Delicate Creation Christopher Derrick,1972 God and the Human Environment Osunkwo Jude Thaddeus Ikenna,2015-07-02

God and the Human Environment Catholic Principles of Environmental Stewardship as a Template for Action in Nigeria brings into conversation the Church's theological reflection on the mandate to care for God's creation and the circumstances of the environment in Nigeria. In vivid terms and with systemic thinking Fr Jude Osunkwo a theologian who specializes in Environmental Studies and Pastoral Catechesis explores the biblical theological magisterial and doctrinal bases that underlie a faithful response to contemporary environmental challenges. After setting the stage with a summation of the issues and a survey of significant ecclesiastical statements on the topic of the environment God and the Human Environment addresses Catholic theological principles of stewardship, Christian responsibility and the ethics of development. Then the discussion turns to the environment of Nigeria assessing its current state and reviewing the causes and consequences of environmental challenges before proposing pastoral responses for the Church. Finally some chapters address likely developments in Nigeria and the Church. An extensive bibliography and several appendices provide additional support. God and the Human Environment is a rigorously researched and passionately presented exploration of the issues growing out of the environmental circumstances Nigerians currently face. Whether you live in Nigeria or count yourself as a member of the Catholic Church and live somewhere else God and the Human Environment explores a topic that promises to make a difference in your life and to protect the part of the environment that God has created for you to tend. Christianity and Ecological Theology E. M. Conradie,2006-10-01 There has been a proliferation of publications in the field of Christian ecological theology over the last three decades or so. These include a number of recent edited volumes each covering a range of topics and consolidating many of the emerging insights in ecological theology. The call for Christian churches to respond to the environmental crisis has been reiterated numerous times in this vast corpus of literature also in South Africa.

Ecotheology and the Practice of Hope Anne Marie Dalton, Henry C. Simmons,2010-09-29 Is there any hope for a more sustainable world? Can we reimagine a way of living in which the nonhuman world matters? Anne Marie Dalton and Henry C. Simmons claim that the ecotheology that arose during the mid twentieth century gives us reason for hope. While ecotheologians acknowledge that Christianity played a significant role in creating societies in which the nonhuman world counted for very little, these thinkers have refocused religion to include the natural world. To borrow philosopher Charles Taylor's concept they have created a new social imaginary, reimagining a better world and a different sense of what is and what should be. A new mindset is emerging inspired by ecotheological texts and evident in the many diverse movements and activities that operate as if the hope imparted by ecotheology has already been realized. While making this powerful argument Dalton and Simmons also provide an essential overview of key ecotheological thinkers and texts EPA-600/5,1974-02 Biblical Holism and Agriculture (Revised Edition): David J. Evans,Ronald J. Vos,Keith P. Aeschliman,1998 C S Lewis and the Case against scientism Imaging God Douglas John Hall,2004-03-14 The deterioration of our natural environment under the impact of a rampant technological society is one of the major crises of our time For many analysts a primary cause of this crisis is the influence on Western culture of the Judaeo Christian concept of the human being as having dominion over the rest of creation In this book Douglas John Hall does not attempt to exonerate historical Christianity from that charge But he argues confession alone is not enough The crisis of nature forces us to rethink our whole understanding of the relation between humanity and nature an understanding that is based on the concept that human beings are created in the image of God imago Dei Hall carefully examines the biblical historical and theological meanings of this term which more than any other biblical expression became Christianity's symbolic way of designating the essence of the human Hall argues that the image of God is not an endowment it is not something that human beings have rather it is a quality that pertains to our relationship with God We should think of imago as a verb not a noun he says The human vocation within the created order is to image the Creator When this is applied in a consistent and serious way the idea of human dominion over all of nature must be radically reinterpreted Taking the Lordship of Jesus as an authentic model for understanding our human relation to the natural order means that dominion is expressed not as mastery but as service sacrificial service of the others with and for whom one is responsible Thus the concept of dominion as stewardship eschews any idea of ownership or superiority in relation to nature yet assumes a special accountability for its welfare A provocative and original work Hall's book retains the biblical centrality of homo sapiens while at the same time raising both nature and God to a new kind of prominence in the dialogue that is life
