Daniel Schoeni, Tobias Vestner

The Deputys Dilemma:

The Fate of Freedom Elsewhere William Michael Schmidli, 2013-07-03 During the first quarter century of the Cold War upholding human rights was rarely a priority in U S policy toward Latin America Seeking to protect U S national security American policymakers quietly cultivated relations with politically ambitious Latin American militaries a strategy clearly evident in the Ford administration's tacit support of state sanctioned terror in Argentina following the 1976 military coup d tat By the mid 1970s however the blossoming human rights movement in the United States posed a serious threat to the maintenance of close U S ties to anticommunist right wing military regimes The competition between cold warriors and human rights advocates culminated in a fierce struggle to define U S policy during the Jimmy Carter presidency In The Fate of Freedom Elsewhere William Michael Schmidli argues that Argentina emerged as the defining test case of Carter's promise to bring human rights to the center of his administration's foreign policy Entering the Oval Office at the height of the kidnapping torture and murder of tens of thousands of Argentines by the military government Carter set out to dramatically shift U S policy from subtle support to public condemnation of human rights violation But could the administration elicit human rights improvements in the face of a zealous military dictatorship rising Cold War tension and domestic political opposition By grappling with the disparate actors engaged in the struggle over human rights including civil rights activists second wave feminists chicano activists religious progressives members of the New Right conservative cold warriors and business leaders Schmidli utilizes unique interviews with U S and Argentine actors as well as newly declassified archives to offer a telling analysis of the rise efficacy and limits of human rights in shaping U S foreign policy in the Cold War The Depression Dilemmas of Rural Iowa, 1929-1933 Lisa L. Ossian, 2012-01-01 To many rural Iowans the stock market crash on New York's Wall Street in October 1929 seemed an event far removed from their lives even though the effects of the crash became all too real throughout the state From 1929 to 1933 the enthusiastic faith that most Iowans had in Iowan President Herbert Hoover was transformed into bitter disappointment with the federal government As a result Iowans directly questioned their leadership at the state county and community levels with a renewed spirit to salvage family farms demonstrating the uniqueness of Iowa's rural life Beginning with an overview of the state during 1929 Lisa L Ossian describes Iowa's particular rural dilemmas evoking through anecdotes and examples the economic nutritional familial cultural industrial criminal legal and political challenges that engaged the people of the state The following chapters analyze life during the early Depression new prescriptions for children's health creative housekeeping to stretch resources the use of farm playlets to communicate new information creatively and memorably the demise of the soft coal mining industry increased violence within the landscape and the movement to end Prohibition The challenges faced in the early Great Depression years between 1929 and 1933 encouraged resourcefulness rather than passivity creativity rather than resignation and community rather than hopelessness Of particular interest is the role of women within the rural landscape as much of the increased daily work fell to farm women during this time While the women addressed this work simply as making do Ossian shows that their resourcefulness entailed complex planning essential for families emotional and physical health Ossian s epilogue takes readers into the Iowa of today dominated by industrial agriculture and asks the reader to consider if this model that stemmed from Depression era innovation is sustainable Her rich rural history not only helps readers understand the particular forces at work that shaped the social and physical landscape of the past but also traces how these landscapes have continued in various forms for almost eighty years into this century The Succession Challenge Dean Fink,2010-03-05 Throughout the world there is a perceived shortage of educational leaders Most investigations look at the issue as a problem of mathematical misalignment This book looks at the roots of the succession challenge internationally and more specifically through the eyes of present and potential leaders to suggest how enlightened approaches to succession management can ensure a steady supply of high quality educational leaders The author focuses on specific areas such as Basic issues of leadership succession demographic and generational roots of the succession crisis patterns of succession management and their implications successful succession practices from around the world Dean Fink is a best selling author of numerous books including Leadership for Mortals He is a widely travelled and popular consultant and presenter Dean is a former teacher school principal and senior official in Ontario Canada Turkmenistan: Strategies of Power, Dilemmas of Development Sebastien Peyrouse,2015-02-12 This book is the first comprehensive introduction to contemporary Turkmenistan in English Privatizing Pensions Mitchell A. Orenstein,2008-08-11 To what extent do international organizations global policy networks and transnational policy entrepreneurs influence domestic policy makers Have we entered a new phase of globalization that unbeknownst to most citizens shapes policies that used to be the sole domain of domestic politics Privatizing Pensions reveals how international institutions such as the World Bank USAID and other transnational policy actors have played a seminal role in the development diffusion and implementation of new pension reforms that are transforming the postwar social contract in more than thirty countries worldwide including the United States Mitchell Orenstein shows how transnational actors have driven change in a policy area once thought to be beyond reform in many countries and how they have done so by deploying their unique resources and legitimacy to promote new ideas recruit disciples worldwide and provide a broad range of technical assistance to government reformers over the long term He demonstrates that while domestic decision makers may retain veto power over these reforms which replace traditional social security with individual pension savings accounts transnational policy makers play the role of proposal actors shaping the information preferences and resources of their domestic clients Privatizing Pensions argues that even the most quintessentially domestic areas of policy have been thoroughly globalized and that these international influences must be better understood The Political Dilemmas of Military Regimes Christopher Clapham,George Philip,2021-05-11 First published in 1985 The Political Dilemmas of Military Regimes was written against the backdrop of the increased prominence of military intervention in the political process during this century The book puts forward the argument that the basic problem for military regimes is not how they gain power but what they can do with it once they have it It discusses the enormous range of cultural and historical circumstances that military organisations are derived from and how widely they vary in their structure politics and social composition The book also highlights the dilemma of choosing between institutionalisation and demilitarisation as one that all military regimes must eventually face The Political Dilemmas of Military Regimes is an in depth study that draws on global material and experiences from throughout the century

psychotherapy through four paradigmatic modes of the patient's relationship to others: subservience, indecisiveness, control, and fundamental fault. Dr. Gustafson utilizes cognitive behavioral, psychodynamic, psychoanalytic, and systems approaches to show clinical psychology practitioners and students how to decipher and respond to the narratives of patients' lives. The Shaping of Liberal Politics in Revolutionary France Anne Sa'adah, 2014-07-14. Marshalling historical materials to make a descriptive argument in social theory, this wide-ranging book compares the liberal revolution in France to the liberal revolutions in England and America and argues that the causes and outcomes of these upheavals were decisive in shaping later patterns of politics. Conflict is the stuff of politics, writes Anne Sa'adah, and liberal politics, because of its emphasis on the individual and its legitimation of self-interest, complicates the task of creating political community in a particularly interesting way. In England and America, the tension between conflict and community was resolved in a manner consistent with political stability. In France, the tension produced an instability that has surfaced periodically throughout subsequent French history. Why this is so is the subject of a work that treats the making of the modern political world in an unusually systematic way. In France, England, and America, the relationship of the state to society under the prerevolutionary regime limited revolutionary options. Sa'adah focuses on how this relationship created a politics of exclusion in France while allowing a politics of transaction in England and America. Contradictions and Dilemmas János Kornai, 1986. These seven essays by the Eastern block's most important economist address and explore many of the critical social and economic issues inherent in the socialist economy. Published in Hungary in 1983, they are the firsthand observations of an insider who attempts to be as frank and impartial as possible about the experiment in his own country. The essays distinguish the classical or traditional form of a highly centralized socialist economy from a system like that of Hungary's that is in the process of institutional reforms. They focus on a few important characteristics of social economies rather than providing a broad description and analysis of socialist systems in order to stimulate thinking along comparative lines. The wider problems and issues related to socialist systems that they address will interest sociologists and political scientists, historians, and philosophers as well as economists. Kornai points out that because real modern societies are different from the pure models of capitalism and socialism, combinations and mixtures of socialist and capitalist systems, sellers and buyers, markets, centralized and decentralized management, occur widely and intensively in both socialist and highly developed industrial market economies and in the nonsocialist third world countries in some segments and to a certain degree. Looking at these phenomena comparatively reveals both the deep differences and the similarities and analogies between the systems The essays are The Reproduction of Shortage Hard and Soft Budget Constraint Degrees of Paternalism Economics and Psychology Comments on the Present State and the Prospects of the Hungarian Economic Reform Efficiency and the Principles of Socialist Ethics The Health of Nations J nos Kornai is Professor of Economics at the Institute of Economics Hungarian Academy of Sciences Budapest Australia's Curriculum Dilemmas Lyn Yates, Cherry Collins, Kate O'Connor, 2011-03-15 Australia's Curriculum Dilemmas tells the story of Australia's recent attempts to come to grips with the big challenges of curriculum and sets up the background to understanding the debates that continue to surface as we move for the first time towards a national approach Detailing some of the inside stories and arguments of the last 30 years about what schools should do as well as some of the politics and lessons that have been learnt along the way it brings together accounts from a national research project and reflections from people who have been actively involved in developing curriculum policies for each state Expert contributors examine the challenges of the public management of curriculum drawing on the different experiences of curriculum reforms in different states They take up the problems of framing vocational and academic education for the new century and of confronting equity and diversity issues They show the fundamental differences that exist in Australia regarding the impact of examinations and assessment and the very different policy approaches that have been taken to tackle these issues Many people in this country are unaware of how much their experience of education has been formed by the particular values of the state in which they were educated For the first time this book demonstrates the effects of those differences now and into the future Dilemmas of Victory

Jeremy Brown, Paul G. Pickowicz, 2012-11-26 Brown examines the social cultural political and economic dimensions of the Communist takeover of China He seeks to understand how the 1949-1953 period was experienced by various groups including industrialists filmmakers ethnic minorities educators rural midwives philanthropists standup comics and scientists

Scholars in the Marketplace. The Dilemmas of Neo-Liberal Reform at Makerere University, 1989-2005 Mahmood Mamdani, 2007 Scholars in the Marketplace is a case study of market based reforms at Uganda's Makerere University With the World Bank heralding neoliberal reform at Makerere as the model for the transformation of higher education in Africa it has implications for the whole continent At the global level the Makerere case exemplifies the fate of public universities in a market oriented and capital friendly era The Makerere reform began in the 1990s and was based on the premise that higher education is more of a private than a public good Instead of pitting the public against the private and the state against the market this book shifts the terms of the debate toward a third alternative than explores different relations between the two The book distinguishes between privatisation and commercialisation two processes that drove the Makerere reform It argues that whereas privatisation the entry of privately sponsored students is compatible with a public university where priorities are publicly set commercialisation financial and administrative autonomy for each faculty to design a market responsive curriculum inevitably leads to a market determination of priorities in a public university The book warns against commercialisation of public universities as the subversion of public institutions for private purposes

Dilemmas in Defence Decision-Making A. Crosby, 1998-05-13 The Cold War produced a matrix of Canadian US extra governmental military and economic relationships which significantly shaped Canadian political decision making as it related to the defence of the continent under the auspices of the North American Air Aerospace Defence Agreement NORAD In the post cold War era these relationships continue to effectively support a traditional security agenda for the Canadian government The rewritten NORAD Agreement signed in March 1996 is the vehicle for Canadian participation in US missile defence programs worldwide Paying particular attention to the decisions to adopt a nuclear weapons role for Canada s continental air defence forces to test the US air launched cruise missile in the Canadian North and to become increasingly involved in active missile and space based defence programs the author examines the Cold War construction of Canadian US military and economic relationships the effects of these relationships on political decision making the public discourse as a site of alternative understandings of Canada s role in the Cold War Ann Denholm Crosby provides a challenging analysis of Canadian defence decision making in both its Cold war and post Cold War contexts

Dilemmas of Transition in Post-Soviet Countries Joel C. Moses, 2003 Exploring the tensions inherent in transition this perceptive book offers a wide ranging overview of the impact of democracy and capitalism on the former Soviet republics Leading scholars assess the region s daunting problems in the key realms of privatization democratization foreign investment agrarian reform local governance and market economics The contributors argue that the central dilemma facing all these fledgling countries is the inherent contradiction between the immediate pursuit of privatization and foreign investment and the long term policy goal of democratization Offering both theoretical and comparative perspectives on the far reaching implications of nation building and democratic transition this valuable study will enable both students and scholars to comprehend the unique difficulties of transition
