The Development Of The Monist View Of History:

The Development of the Monist View in History G. V. Plekhanov, 1947 The Development of the Monist View of History Georgii Valentinovich Plekhanov, 1972 The Development of the Monist View of History G. V. Plekhanov, 1972 The Development of the Monist View in History G. V. Plekhanov, 1947 Development of the Monist View of History Georgii Valentinovich Plekhanov, 1974-01-01 Reflections on the Marxist theory of history Paul Blackledge, 2013-07-19 A decade after Francis Fukuyama announced the End of History anti capitalist demonstrators at Seattle and elsewhere have helped reinvigorate the Left with the reply another world is possible More than anyone else it was Marx who showed that slogans such as this were no utopian fantasies and that capitalism was just as much a historical mode of production no more natural and certainly no less contradictory than were the feudal and slave modes which proceeded it Paul Blackledge opens this study with a defence of the Marxist approach to the study of history against what he argues as being the naive empiricism of traditional historians and the relativism of the postmodernists He moves on to outline Marx and Engels analyses of concrete historical processes and their critiques of the alternative historiographic methodologies of their contemporaries He then discusses neglected historical works produced by Marxists in the half century or so after Marx and Engels deaths Two central chapters survey recent Marxist debates on first the nature of modes of productions including slave feudal and tributary systems and the revolutionary transitions between them and second the methodological debate over the issue of structure and agency in the movement of history Finally he shows the political relevance of these debates through a concluding survey of competing Marxist attempts to periodise the present postmodern conjuncture This book should be read by historians students of cultural social and political theory and anti capitalist activists The Development of the Monist View of History Georgij Valentinovič Plechanov, 1974 Patterns in History David Bebbington, 1990-12

Fact and Method Richard W. Miller, 2021-04-13 In this bold work of broad scope and rich erudition Richard Miller sets out to reorient the philosophy of science By questioning both positivism and its leading critics he develops new solutions to the most urgent problems about justification explanation and truth Using a wealth of examples from both the natural and the social sciences Fact and Method applies the new account of scientific reason to specific questions of method in virtually every field of inquiry including biology physics history sociology anthropology economics psychology and literary theory Explicit and up to date analysis of leading alternative views and a wealth of examples make it an ideal introduction to the philosophy of science as well as a powerful attempt to change the field Like the works of Hempel Reichenbach and Nagel in an earlier generation it will challenge instruct and help anyone with an interest in science and its limits For the past quarter century the philosophy of science has been in a crisis brought on by the failure of the positivist project of resolving all basic methodological questions by applying absolutely general rules valid for all fields at all times Professor Miller presents a new view in which what counts as an explanation a cause a confirming test or a compelling case for the existence of an unobservable is determined by frameworks of specific substantive principles rationally adopted in the light of the actual history of inquiry While the history of science has usually been the material for relativism Professor Miller uses arguments of Darwin Newton Einstein Galileo and others both to undermine positivist conceptions of rationality and to support the positivists optimism that important theoretical findings are often justifiable from all reasonable perspectives Class

History and Class Practices in the Periphery of Capitalism Paul Zarembka,2019-09-03 This volume advances our understanding of class histories and practices in societies outside the core capitalist countries and it deepens our knowledge of resistances in this periphery through site specific class analyses It also features an out of the archive translation of Karl Katsusky s theory of crises New History of Anthropology Henrika Kuklick,2009-02-09 A New History of Anthropology collects original writings from pre eminent scholars to create a sophisticated but accessible guide to the development of the field Re examines the history of anthropology through the lens of the new globalized world Provides a comprehensive history of the discipline from its prehistory in the age of exploration through to anthropology s current condition and its relationship with other disciplines Places ideas and practices within the context of their time and place of origin Looks at anthropology s role in colonization early traditions in the field and topical issues from various periods in the field s history and examines its relationship to other disciplines An Interdisciplinary Theory of Activity Andy Blunden,2010-04-06 Andy Blunden presents an immanent critique of Cultural Historical Activity Theory the current of psychology originating from Lev Vygotsky 1896

1934 Tracing the roots of this theory from Goethe Hegel and Marx the author draws out the principles with which Vygotsky developed a theory of the mind in which the individual and their social situation form a single Gestalt transcending the problems of mind body dualism Blunden follows the efforts of later members of the School to resolve outstanding problems in Vygotsky s work This includes a critical appropriation of Leontyev s Activity Theory and Michael Cole s cross cultural research on the role of context in learning The outcome is a concept of activity which transcends the division between individual and social domains in human sciences A New Imperial History of Northern Eurasia, 1700-1918 Marina B.

Mogilner,Alexander Semyonov,Ilya V. Gerasimov,Sergey Glebov,2025-02-20 A New Imperial History of Northern Eurasia 1700 1918 proposes a new language for studying and conceptualizing the spaces societies and institutions that existed on the territory of today's Northern Eurasia until recently part of the USSR. Traditional concepts and genealogies that frame human experience have to be avoided or reframed; this is not the story of a certain present-day state or people evolving through consecutive historical stages. Rather, the book's point of departure is a modern analytical approach to the problem of human diversity as a fundamental social condition. In the form of cooperation and confrontation, various attempts to manage diversity fostered processes of societal self-organization as new ideas, practices, and institutions were developed virtually from scratch or radically altered when borrowed. Essentially, this is the story of individuals and societies who creatively responded to their natural and social environments and sought answers to universal problems in unique historical circumstances. This volume, which brings together leading scholars from both the United States and Russia, covers the period during which the enormous landmass from the Carpathian Mountains in the west to the Pacific Ocean in the east, from the Polar Circle in the north to the steppe belt in the south, was put under the control of a single polity, the Russian Empire. Previously, the competing local scenarios of self-organization had taken specific political forms that suited them best. This book shows that the Russian Empire faced the daunting task of coordinating multifaceted diversity within a single political and legal body under constantly changing domestic and international circumstances. The study reveals that to this end, the imperial regime employed various means from violence to science, from segregation to integration, and yet was still unable to block multiple political actors within the empire from advancing their own strategies of belonging, resistance, and participation.

Marxism and the Question of the Asiatic Mode of Production M. Sawyer, 2012-12-06 Wherever possible in this monograph, I have referred to English translations of works originally appearing in other languages. Where this has not been possible, for example with Russian material, I have followed the Library of Congress system of transliteration but omitted the diacritics. I have also retained the conventional use of y for the ending of certain Russian proper names, e.g., Trotsky, not Trotskii. In accordance with the policy of using existing English translations, I have referred to the Martin Nicolaus translation of Marx's Grundrisse, which is relatively faithful to the text. The Grundrisse, although the Dead Sea Scroll of Marxism, bears all the characteristics of a rough draft, characteristics which are preserved in the Nicolaus translation. The term Marxian has been employed in the conventional way in this book to distinguish the views of Marx and Engels from those of their Marxist followers. In preparing this work, I have received bibliographical assistance from Professor Israel Getzler, now of the Hebrew University, and critical assistance from Mr. Bruce McFarlane of the University of Adelaide, and especially from Professor Eugene Kamenka of the Australian National University. Professor Jean Chesneaux of the Sorbonne, as one of the leading participants in the more recent debates discussed here, provided me with some further insight into the issues, and Professor K. A. Wittfogel of Columbia also supplied some valuable information.

A Multi-Paradigmatic Approach to Understanding History Kavous Ardalan, 2022-12-08 This book explores the field of history through a multi-paradigmatic approach. For this purpose, it begins with a discussion of four most diverse worldviews or paradigms, namely, functionalist interpretive radical humanist and radical structuralist before moving on to consider four aspects of the field of history historiography grand narrative progress and time from the viewpoints of the four most diverse worldviews or paradigms Next the book looks at three historical events the French Revolution the American Civil War and the Iranian Revolution from the viewpoints of the four most diverse worldviews or paradigms It concludes by recommending paradigm diversity as an understanding of different paradigms leads to a more comprehensive and a more balanced understanding of the multifaceted nature of the subject matter

The Bibliographical Guide to the Global History of Philosophy, Lectures on the History of Moral and Political Philosophy Jonathan Wolff, Gerald A. Cohen, 2013-10-27 Previously unpublished writings from one of the most important political philosophers of recent times G A Cohen was one of the leading political philosophers of recent times He first came to wide attention in 1978 with the prize winning book Karl Marx's Theory of History: A Defence In subsequent decades his published writings largely turned away from the history of philosophy focusing instead on equality freedom and justice However throughout his career he regularly lectured on a wide range of moral and political philosophers of the past This volume collects these previously unpublished lectures Starting with a chapter centered on Plato but also discussing the pre Socratics as well as Aristotle the book moves to social contract theory as discussed by Hobbes Locke and Hume and then continues with chapters on Kant Hegel and Nietzsche The book also contains some previously published but uncollected papers on Marx Hobbes and Kant among other figures The collection concludes with a memoir of Cohen written by the volume editor Jonathan Wolff who was a student of Cohen's A hallmark of the lectures is Cohen's engagement with the thinkers he discusses Rather than simply trying to render their thought accessible to the modern reader he tests whether their arguments and positions are clear sound and free from contradiction Throughout he homes in on central issues and provides fresh approaches to the philosophers he examines Ultimately these lectures teach us not only about some of the great thinkers in the history of moral and political philosophy but also about one of the great thinkers of our time Cohen himself
