The Dialogues of Athing & Other Poems Harold Holden, 1993      What Kind of a Thing Is a Middle English Lyric? Cristina Maria Cervone, Nicholas Watson, 2022-08-30

What Kind of a Thing Is a Middle English Lyric considers issues pertaining to a corpus of several hundred short poems written in Middle English between the twelfth and early fifteenth centuries. The chapters draw on perspectives from varied disciplines including literary criticism, musicology, art history, and cognitive science. Since the early 1900s, the poems have been categorized as lyrics, the term now used for most kinds of short poetry, yet neither the difficulties nor the promise of this treatment have received enough attention. In one way, the book argues considering these poems to be lyrics obscures much of what is interesting about them. Since the nineteenth century, lyrics have been thought of as subjective and best read without reference to cultural context, yet nonetheless they are taken to form a distinct literary tradition. Since Middle English short poems are often communal and usually spoken, sung, and/or danced, this lyric template is not a good fit. In another way, however, the very differences between these poems and the later ones on which current debates about the lyric still focus suggest they have much to offer those debates and vice versa. As its title suggests, this book thus goes back to the basics, asking fundamental questions about what these poems are, how they function formally and culturally, how they are and are not related to other bodies of short poetry, and how they might illuminate and be illuminated by contemporary lyric scholarship. Eleven chapters by medievalists and two responses by modernists, all in careful conversation with one another, reflect on these questions and suggest very different answers. The editors' introduction synthesizes these answers by suggesting that these poems can most usefully be read as a kind of play in several senses of that word. The book ends with eight new Middle English lyrics by seven contemporary poets.

The Poetry Circuit Peter B. Howarth, 2024-09-17

Live performance has changed poetry more than anything else in the last hundred years; it has given poets new audiences and a new economy, and it has generated new styles from Imagism to confessional to contemporary Spoken Word. But the creative impact that public reading had right through the twentieth century has not been well understood. Mixing close listening to archive performances with intimate histories of modernist venues and promoters, The Poetry Circuit tells the story of how poets met their audience again and how the feedback loops between their voices, the venues, and the occasions turned poems into running dramas between poet and listener. A nervous T.S. Eliot reveals himself to be anything but impersonal, while Marianne Moore's accident-prone readings become subtle ways of keeping her poems in constant redraft. Robert Frost used his poems to spar with his fans and rivals, while Langston Hughes wrote Ask Your Mama to expose the prejudice circulating in the room as he spoke it. The Poetry Circuit also shows how the post-war reading boom made new kinds of poetry involving their audience and setting in the performance, such as John Ashbery's anti-charismatic Poets Theatre, Amiri Baraka's documentary soundtracks of the streets, or the confessional readings of Allen Ginsberg, which shame the listeners more than the poet. Covering the first seventy years of the poetry reading, The Poetry Circuit demonstrates that there never were page and stage poets the reading simply changed what every modern poet could do

Poetry in Dialogue in the Duecento and Dante David Bowe, 2020-11-20 Poetry in Dialogue in the Duecento and Dante provides a new perspective on the highly networked literary landscape of thirteenth and fourteenth century Italy It demonstrates the fundamental role of dialogue between and within texts in the works of four poets who represent some of the major developments in early Italian literature Guittone d Arezzo Guido Guinizzelli Guido Cavalcanti and Dante Rather than reading the cultural landscape through the lens of Dante s works significant though they may be the first part of this study reconstructs the rich network of literary especially poetic dialogue that was at the heart of medieval writing in Italy The second part uses this reconstruction to demonstrate Dante s engagement with and indebtedness to the dynamics of exchange that characterised the practice of medieval Italian poets The overall argument for the centrality of dialogic processes to the emerging Italian literary tradition is underpinned by a conceptualisation of dialogue in relation to medieval and modern literary theory and philosophy of language By triangulating between Brunetto Latini s Rettorica Mikhail Bakhtin s dialogism and as sense of performative speech adapted from J L Austin Poetry in Dialogue shows the openness of its corpus to new dialogues and interpretations highlighting the instabilities of even the most apparently fixed monumental texts
