The Diary of a Private Doctor Robert Lefever,1988      The Doctor in the Victorian Novel Tabitha

Sparks,2016-03-23 With the character of the doctor as her subject Tabitha Sparks follows the decline of the marriage plot in the Victorian novel As Victorians came to terms with the scientific revolution in medicine of the mid to late nineteenth century the novel's progressive distance from the conventions of the marriage plot can be indexed through a rising identification of the doctor with scientific empiricism A narrative's stance towards scientific reason Sparks argues is revealed by the fictional doctor's relationship to the marriage plot Thus novels that feature romantic doctors almost invariably deny the authority of empiricism as is the case in George MacDonald's Adela Cathcart In contrast works such as Wilkie Collins's Heart and Science which highlight clinically minded or even sinister doctors uphold the determining logic of science and in turn threaten the novel's romantic plot By focusing on the figure of the doctor rather than on a scientific theme or medical field Sparks emulates the Victorian novel's personalization of tropes and belief systems using the realism associated with the doctor to chart the sustainability of the Victorian novel's central imaginative structure the marriage plot As the doctors Sparks examines increasingly stand in for the encroachment of empirical knowledge on a morally formulated artistic genre their alienation from the marriage plot and its interrelated decline succinctly herald the end of the Victorian era and the beginning of Modernism      National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1988

The Doctor's World Paul Hyland,2022-11-25 This is the story of the extraordinary life of Claver Morris and the society in which he lived After his marriage at Chelsea in 1685 Claver Morris moved to Somerset where he established an outstanding reputation for his work as a physician His diaries show us how he worked with apothecaries and surgeons and travelled widely to treat all kind of patients from the children of the poor to those of the landed gentry The diaries also tell us about the joys and pains of Claver's personal and family life and of his various intrigues Claver Morris was a man of many talents immensely enterprising knowledgeable sociable and loving His house was always filled with music guests and entertainments Yet he was often faced with disputes and troubles partly of his own making as when he courted a bishop's daughter or stole some land to build his Queen Anne house The Doctor's World provides a unique portrait of a physician living and working through the political and religious turmoils that beset the nation at the turn of the eighteenth century Tales of medical treatments clandestine marriages and self serving priests are entwined with famous acts of treason and rebellion and the pleasures and tragedies of daily life This meticulously researched book will appeal to all readers of social political medical and family history      The Clarendon Historical Society's Reprints. Anonymous,2024-04-08 Reprint of the original first published in 1882      A History of the English-Speaking Peoples since 1900 Andrew Roberts,2010-12-16 Prize winning British historian tells the story of the English speaking peoples in the 20th century Winston Churchill's History of the English Speaking Peoples ended in 1900 Andrew Roberts Wolfson History prizewinner has been inspired by Churchill's example to write the story of the 20th century Churchill wrote Every nation or group of nations has its own tale to tell Knowledge of the trials and struggles is necessary to all who would comprehend the problems perils challenges and opportunities which confront us today It is in the hope that contemplation of the trials and tribulations of our forefathers may not only fortify the English speaking peoples of today but also play some small part in uniting the whole world that I present this account As the greatest of all the trials and tribulations of the English speaking peoples took place in the twentieth century Roberts book covers the four world historical struggles in which the English speaking peoples have been engaged the wars against German Nationalism Axis Fascism Soviet Communism and now the War against Terror But just as Churchill did in his four volumes Roberts also deals with the cultural social and political history of the English global diaspora

The Blood Doctor Barbara Vine, 2007-12-18 Sometimes it's best to leave the past alone. For when biographer Martin Nanthier looks into the life of his famous great grandfather Henry Queen Victoria's favorite physician, he discovers some rather unsettling coincidences like the fact that the doctor married the sister of his recently murdered fiancée. The more Martin researches his distant relative, the more fascinated and horrified he becomes. Why did people have a habit of dying around his great grandfather? And what did his late daughter mean when she wrote that he's done monstrous, quite appalling things? Barbara Vine aka Ruth Rendell deftly weaves this story of an eminent Victorian with a modern yarn about the embattled biographer who is watching the House of Lords prepare to annul membership for hereditary peers and thus strip him of his position. Themes of fate and family snake throughout this teasing psychological suspense, a typically chilling tale from a master of the genre.

J.M. Coetzee and the Ethics of Power Emanuela Tegli, 2016-01-12 For I was not as I liked to believe the indulgent pleasure-loving opposite of the cold, rigid Colonel I was. The lie that Empire tells itself when times are easy, he, the truth that Empire tells when harsh winds blow. Thus the Magistrate confesses in Coetzee's 1980 novel Waiting for the Barbarians. The present study looks closely into the unsettling effects Coetzee's novels have on the reader and explores the interconnectedness between stylistic choices and moral insights. Its overall aim is to disclose the effectiveness of Coetzee's narrative strategies to prompt the reader to engage in self-questioning and radical revisions of personal and social moral assumptions. This is an original and groundbreaking study of Coetzee's work. Dr Tegli's insightful close readings highlight the ways in which Coetzee fictionalizes a variety of moral dilemmas. In particular, she shows how he turns narrative into an instrument for moral discernment. Her narratological approach advances our understanding of his achievements, and I can state without reservation that this book will be referred to as a landmark in Coetzee criticism.

Japanese Perceptions of Papua New Guinea Ryota Nishino, 2022-09-08 Japanese Perceptions of Papua New Guinea exposes the interactions between two ostensibly opposing worlds: war and travel. While soldiers deployed to Eastern New Guinea during the Second World War recalled first-hand their experience of war, post-war tourists visited battle sites, met locals, and drew their own conclusions about the Pacific island from the Japanese media. This book, by bringing travel and war closer together through a comparative analysis of veterans' memoirs and the records of postwar travelers, explores how individuals consume, create, and recreate war histories. As a result, Ryota Nishino reveals the extent to which the memory of defeat for both soldiers and civilians alike influenced the Japanese perceptions of Papua New Guinea and shaped future relations between the countries. Translating a diverse range of Japanese primary and archival sources, this book provides the first English language analysis of the social and political impact of Japanese interpretations of the PNG campaign and its aftermath. As such, Japanese Perceptions of Papua New Guinea: War, Travel, and the Reimagining of History is an important text for anyone seeking a sophisticated understanding of war, nationalism, and memory culture in Japan and the Pacific.

Islands Memoirs of Doctor Burney Fanny Burney, 2023-08-19 Reproduction of the original Doctor Thomas Monro Mora Abell, 2009 Doctor Thomas Monro 1759 1833 Physician Patron and Painter Introduction Thomas Monro art collector and doctor to the insane was a unique figure in London society of the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries In his professional capacity as head of Bethlem Hospital Bedlam the Hospital for the Insane he was summoned to treat George the Third during his bouts of madness His private passion was painting in watercolor and amongst the artists he befriended and encouraged were J M W Turner and Thomas Girtin Monro appears to be the missing link in the change of style in watercolors that took place around the beginning of the nineteenth century Many young men who became leading artists of their day were students at the informal meeting of artists held in his house on Adelphi Terrace weekly on a Friday evening from 1774 His house became a studio turning out endless sketches and coloured drawings by young artists known as Monro School Copies They copied from drawings by Monro J R Cozens William Alexander Henry Edridge and Thomas Hearn also Monro's neighbour John Henderson had a known contemporary collection of drawings as had Monro himself which the students copied from In addition to Turner and Girtin John Linnell John Sell Cotman Peter de Wint William Henry Hunt Joshua Crispall and John Varley among others found their way to Monro's evening gatherings Monro and his friends taught them accuracy in drawing accompanying them on outdoor sketching trips teaching them to see from Nature as well as giving them the enjoyment of the company of other young artists with an opportunity to share ideas The as yet acknowledged Monro played a key role in the development of the styles of these artists The rise and establishment of watercolor painting with the standards and ideals which Monro insisted upon had much to do with the unrivaled position which the English School in Water Colours had attained by the time of his death whilst John Ruskin went so far as to say that Thomas Monro was Turner's true master So many papers are still held by family members which is why so little correct information had appeared on Thomas Monro to date With five children surviving him much has been distributed to their descendants so it is difficult to get a clear picture Included in the story is a brief description of Bedlam or the Bethlem Hospital Monro never kept a diary but his son Edward Thomas Tom did and these diaries and those of his artistic son Henry and Sally his daughter have been made available to me These form the basis for the book and are held by a member of the family Letters and descriptions many of still in private hands gave further insight Clarendon Historical Society Reprints Clarendon Historical Society, 1884 The Doctor's Newfound Family & Mission of Hope Valerie Hansen, Allie Pleiter, 2019-11-05 Courage and faith in the face of danger The Doctor's Newfound Family by Valerie Hansen Sara Beth Reese has vowed to clear the name of her murdered father and she'll face any obstacle to achieve her goal Orphaned and alone in San Francisco except for the three younger brothers in her care she needs Dr Cole Hayward's protection whether she'll admit it or not And as danger escalates Cole will do everything necessary to make this newfound family his to love and protect for a lifetime Mission of Hope by Allie Pleiter Witnesses throughout San Francisco report a masked man in black is bringing supplies and badly needed hope to homeless earthquake survivors He could be a man of wealth or a working class man with courage as great as his faith But the masked messenger will need more than a miracle to escape those on his trail and win the spirited society belle risking everything to save him

The Politics of Wounds Ana Carden-Coyne, 2014 The Politics of Wounds explores military patients experiences of frontline medical evacuation war surgery and the social world of military hospitals during the First World War The proximity of the front and the colossal numbers of wounded created greater public awareness of the impact of the war than had been seen in previous conflicts with serious political consequences Frequently referred to as our wounded the central place of the soldier in society as a symbol of the war's shifting meaning drew contradictory responses of compassion heroism and censure Wounds also stirred romantic and sexual responses This volume reveals the paradoxical situation of the increasing political demand levied on citizen soldiers concurrent with the rise in medical humanitarianism and war related charitable voluntarism The physical gestures and poignant sounds of the suffering men reached across the classes giving rise to convictions about patient rights which at times conflicted with the military's pragmatism Why then did patients represent military medicine doctors and nurses in a negative light The Politics of Wounds listens to the voices of wounded soldiers placing their personal experience of pain within the social cultural and political contexts of military medical institutions The author reveals how the wounded and disabled found culturally creative ways to express their pain negotiate power relations manage systemic tensions and enact forms of soft resistance against the societal and military expectations of masculinity when confronted by men in pain The volume concludes by considering the way the state ascribed social and economic values on the body parts of disabled soldiers through the pension system
