Worldly Provincialism H. Glenn Penny, Matti Bunzl, 2003-03-17 Worldly Provincialism introduces readers to German anthropology during the age of empire and illustrates how the initial motives and interests that gave birth to German anthropology were channeled and shaped by contexts as various as romantic voyages in the South Pacific the Herero wars in Southwest Africa open air presentations of exotic peoples in Berlin and prison camps during World War I It also shows that Germans unique intellectual traditions their emphasis on concepts of culture and the late arrival of both the German nation state and the German colonial empire affected their interest in and relationships with non Europeans Worldly Provincialism confirms that there is no justification for presupposing that Europeans shared a common cultural code while abroad or for assuming that they would have behaved similarly during their interactions with non Europeans Thus we must rethink the relationships among anthropology colonialism and race It also forces a rethinking of our understanding of race in the nineteenth century when race science emerged and eclipsed many alternative racial theories H Glenn Penny is Assistant Professor of History University of Missouri Kansas City Matti Bunzl is Aaron and Robin Fischer Assistant Professor of Jewish Culture and Society Department of Anthropology University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign voyeurism and sexism his involvement in the homogenizing of Western social orders and colonial legacies and his enthused mission of sending home a mass of still life photographs annexed African artifacts and assumed vintage knowledge The book does not challenge his artistic merit or his fascinating personality what it does question is his production and imagining of difference As the text travels from World War II to colonialism postcolonialism and the Cold War from Casablanca to Leopoldville Kinshasa it proves to be a necessarily strenuous and provocative trip The World of Tribal Arts, 1997
