Particular attention is devoted to the visual character of such consumption and its implications for place and people The implications for nature and the environment are also explored in depth The changing nature of consumption and the tensions between commodification and collective enthusiasms are explored in the context of the changing ways in which the countryside is consumed

In the Province of History Ian McKay, Robin Bates, 2010-05-18 Using archival sources novels government reports and works on tourism and heritage Ian McKay and Robin Bates look at how state planners key politicians and cultural figures such as Henry Wadsworth Longfellow long time premier Angus L Macdonald and novelist Thomas Raddall were all instrumental in forming tourism history The authors argue that Longfellow's 1847 poem Evangeline on the brutal British expulsion of Acadians from Nova Scotia became a template a new kind of profit making history that exalted whiteness and excluded ethnic minorities women and working class movements A remarkable look at the intersection of politics leisure and the presentation of public history In the Province of History is a revealing account of how a region has both used and distorted its own past

William Wordsworth and the Ecology of Authorship Scott Hess, 2012 In William Wordsworth and the Ecology of Authorship Scott Hess explores Wordsworth's defining role in establishing what he designates as the ecology of authorship a primarily middle class nineteenth century conception of nature associated with aesthetics high culture individualism and nation Instead of viewing Wordsworth as an early ecologist Hess places him within a context that is largely cultural and aesthetic The supposedly universal Wordsworthian vision of nature Hess argues was in this sense specifically male middle class professional and culturally elite factors that continue to shape the environmental movement today

The Autobiography of William Stout of Lancaster William Stout (of Lancaster.), 1967

Prose in the Age of Poets Annette

Wheeler Cafarelli, 2015-09-30 In Prose in the Age of Poets Annette Wheeler Cafarelli demonstrates that nonfictional narrative of the time was a central expression of British Romanticism. The rise of interest in the individual traditionally associated with Romantic autobiography was actually part of a wider cultural interest in biography especially literary biography. Following Johnson's lead in the Lives of the Poets virtually every major writer of the period experimented with sequences of short anecdotal lives that became a characteristic Romantic vehicle for discussing theories of creativity, canon and the place of the poet in society. The Romantics took in new directions the examination of the relation of artists' lives and works, biographers and their subjects and texts and their readers. Romantic biography, Cafarelli contends, offers a perspective from which to reconsider conventional boundaries of genre, periodization and the movement from Neoclassicism to Romanticism. In examining the Romantics as prose writers and biographers, Cafarelli explores the affiliations between Romantic theories of reading and writing and twentieth century critical methodologies. She situates the biographical writings of the major poets including Wordsworth, Coleridge and Byron in the context of detailed analyses of biographies by Johnson, Hazlitt, De Quincey, Scott, Southey and other lesser known contemporaries. Prose in the Age of Poets will interest scholars and students of Romanticism, Johnson biography and autobiography and narrative theory. A Preface to Wordsworth John

Purkis, 2014-09-25 Probably the most famous of the Romantic poets, William Wordsworth worked with and influenced many of the leading poets of the age. This excellent introduction to his life and works sets his writing firmly in the context of his times. John Purkis provides an outline of Wordsworth's life and cultural background and their effect on his work and examines his verse from the earliest school poems to the final years. Music Stones: The Rediscovery of Ringing Rock Mike

Adcock, 2025-09-18 Stone instruments known as lithophones are believed to date back to prehistoric times. This book explores their more recent musical uses from 18th century sets in England to Vietnam's ancient slabs, sound sculptures and experimental compositions revealing the enduring resonance of stone in music and art. Snowdon, 2019-01-01 The advent of mass railroad travel in the 1800s saw the extension of a system of global transport that developed various national styles of construction, operation, administration and passenger experiences. Drawing on travel narratives and a broad range of other contemporary sources, this history contrasts the railroad cultures of 19th century England and America with a focus on the differing social structures and value systems of each nation and how the railroad fit into the wider industrial landscape. The Agrarian History of England and Wales Edward John T. Collins, Joan

Thirsk, 2000 The unifying theme of this volume is the changing role of the countryside in national life and the impact upon it of the social and economic forces unleashed by industrialisation and the growth of towns. Making Sense of Place
