The Correspondence of Ford Madox Ford and Stella Bowen Ford Madox Ford,Stella Bowen,1993 Ford Madox Ford novelist poet critic champion of young authors travel writer chronicler of his own times was a man mad about writing As Ezra Pound observed Ford actually lived the heroic artistic life that Yeats talked about An incorrigible bohemian who passed as a nice old gentleman at a tea party Ford devoted himself to literature and the arts founding two important literary magazines The English Review and the transatlantic review and writing over eighty books including The Good Soldier and Parade s End

Marginal Voice, Marginal Body Noriko Miura,2000 In examining the work of three ethnic writers Nakagami Kenji is Japanese burakumin

Leslie Marmon Silko Native American Salman Rushdie an Indian living in England this project studies the literary depictions of the ways in which the body is portrayed and used as a space for cultural and ideological inscription The major issues addressed involve gender race and ethnicity as forces which become visible through the socially constructed body In the works of Nakagami Kenji Salman Rushdie and Leslie Marmon Silko bodies cry out the silence to overwhelm the torturer They all share a concern with the loss of land which induces migration a weakened sense of identity and hybridity Each author uses the body of his/her protagonist as the site to inscribe the consequences of such loss along with the criticisms against the dominant system and ideology of society In each case an emerging discourse of the body forges the power of the margins to resist and subvert any claims of hegemonic control The section on Kenji's novel Wings of the Sun includes an investigation of the burakumin its historical and cultural origin and how it is excluded from the structure of Japanese society before moving to an examination of Kenji's texts create a space for the burakumin within the Body Without Organs of advanced capitalism The chapter on Rushdie's Shame shows how the novel uses the bodies of its protagonists as allegories of the violence and conflict within multi ethnic post colonial Pakistan The analysis of Silko's Ceremony involves the conflict between Native American and Euro American cultures in their varying treatments of the body Much has been written in the last decade about literary representations of the body This work has stressed that the body is a conceptual category produced by specific discursive operations that can be analyzed and described Emphasis on the discursive construction of the body facilitates our understanding of the human condition represented in literature or in other cultural products and in the case of these three authors posits the body as the site of alternative logics for dealing with the realities of post colonial situations

Modernism and the Aristocracy Adam Parkes, 2023 The early twentieth century saw a radical redrawing of Britain's social and political map as its hereditary aristocracy was pushed from the centre to the margins of the nation's affairs This book traces the literary consequences of the modernist preoccupation with aristocracy that this social change inspired
