

International Collectors Library presents—

The Complete Tales of WASHINGTON IRVING

Collectors have for the first time experienced the tales that so perfectly capture the magical atmosphere of the Hudson River Valley at the close of the 18th century. Probably every body knows the story of the wild-eyed Dutchman, fleeing on horse back the Headless Horseman—and the tale of the affable but bespelled Rip Van Winkle. Yet there are just two among the scores of stories that show Washington Irving a writer and appreciative audience sharing his lifetime and have continued to make his name a household word down to the present day. There are such delightful and enchanting masterpieces as "The Specter Convent," "Dolphin Bay," "The Specter Bridgeway," "The Story of the Young Ruffian," and "Annette's Story"—the name just a few. There are ghost stories, comic sketches and jolly romances from America's first master of the demanding art of short story writing.

Washington Irving lived a long and productive life, and his work exerted a serious influence upon many important American writers who followed him. When he died in 1859, in Tarrytown, New York—near his beloved Sleepy Hollow—our contemporary writer that "they made him feel and hear solemnly looked for the last time on his genial face, and murmured his long as that of a personal friend and national benefactor." The sentiment is perfectly justified—for Irving was a great entertainer, a witty storyteller, and a consummate artist.

Encyclopedia of American Humorists Steven H. Gale, 2016-04-14 First published in 1988, this book contains entries on famous American Humorists. Humor has been present in American literature from the beginning and has developed characteristics that reflect the American character, both regional and national. Although American literature was in the past treated as inferior to British literature, there has always been a large popular audience for the genre, which this book shows. The figures with entries in this encyclopedia not only amuse in their writing but also aim to enlighten, setting out to expose the foibles and foolishness of society and the individuals who compose it. It is the manner in which these authors try to accomplish this end that determines whether they appear in the volume. Indeed, the book will demonstrate that the best humor has at its base a ready understanding of human nature.

Encyclopedia of the American Short Story Abby H. P. Werlock, 2015-04-22 Two volume set that presents an introduction to American short fiction from the 19th century to the present.

Literary Interventions in the Campaign Biography Michael J. Blouin, 2021-11-28 Literary Interventions in the Campaign Biography considers campaign biographies written by major authors including Nathaniel Hawthorne, William Dean Howells, Lew Wallace, Jacob Riis, and Rose Wilder Lane. Whereas a number of cultural historians have previously considered campaign biographies to be marginal or isolated from the fictional output of these figures, this volume revisits the biographies in order to understand better how they inform and are informed by seismic shifts in the literary landscape. The book illuminates the intersection of American literature and politics while charting how the Presidency has developed in the public imagination. In so doing, it poses questions of increasing significance about how we understand the office as well as its occupants today.

American Studies Encounters the Middle East Alex Lubin, Marwan M. Kraidy, 2016-08-24 In the field of American studies, attention is shifting to the long history of U.S. engagement with the Middle East, especially in the aftermath of war in Iraq and in the context of recent Arab uprisings in protest against economic inequality, social discrimination, and political repression. Here Alex Lubin and Marwan M. Kraidy curate a new collection of essays that focuses on the cultural politics of America's entanglement with the Middle East and North Africa, making a crucial intervention in the growing subfield of transnational American studies. Featuring a diverse list of contributors from the United States, the Arab world, and beyond, American Studies Encounters the Middle East analyzes Arab-American relations by looking at the War on Terror, pop culture, and the influence of the American hegemony in a time of revolution. Contributors include Christina Moreno Almeida, Ashley Dawson,
