The Design of Existence Wilson Van Dusen, 2001 A guidebook to the mystical experience like no other Viewing external reality from a multi dimensional perspective Van Dusen imposes that vision on our internal reality He sets out to explore the inner landscape in detail using the writings of 18th century visonary Emanuel Swedenborg as a template and comparing them to works in of other spiritual traditions especially Hinduism and Buddhism For both Swedenborg and Van Dusen our interior realm reflects the external cosmos Each of us carries in our nature and character a cosmological design This inner outer correspondence makes possible a mystical sense of oneness Includes contemplative and meditative exercises for daily use

Fostering Resilience for Loss and Irrelevance Eric A. Kreuter, 2012-12-12 The compensating construct of resiliency itself has not been compared to the problem of loss of relevancy Therefore there is an open corridor for the enlightened therapist career coach or mentor to appropriately guide a troubled person with targeted challenges to transform themselves into a newly thriving being This book explores the topic in detail with references to the literature where prior theory can be applied to advance this topic further Anecdotal evidence supporting the authors perspective is presented including several brief case studies of individuals who have thrived following cessation of their prior careers

disproportionately that that we know more about the predator than we do the victim Moreover almost all the literature on the victim is presented from either a reductionistic or cognitive behavioural point of view This book examines the psychology of a victim of repeated criminal acts from the existential humanistic perspective The method used is the single case study The subject currently age 51 a pilot was the victim of identity theft extortion and duress These crimes some of which are treated under federal law as violent by their nature or effect resulted in a large unrecoverable financial loss suspension of the pilot's medical certification required to operate aircraft abrupt termination of his chosen career a continuing governmental record of being delusional despite overwhelming proof to the contrary lasting emotional and physical distress as well as other consequences Meanwhile the predator has harmed dozens of individuals forming a diverse cohort A life history of the subject is presented as a context for the specific chronology of events defining his victimisation which is followed by an existential interpretation Interviews and archival data including written and audio forms of documentation have been incorporated into the study Seven criteria were selected from existential humanistic psychology that have been applied in the exploration of the behaviour and personality of the victim 1 the interior life world of the person 2 self actualisation needs vs adjustment to social norms 3 meaning through suffering 4 being in the face of non being 5 attitudes toward death and annihilation 6 dreams visions and mythic experience and 7 existential use of the void The study found characteristics of the psyche of a particular victim that may have made him vulnerable These characteristics include being overly trusting being under the influence of a hero rescuer archetype and being overly reliant on instruments due to training as a pilot Mainstream psychology has ignored this dimension which is needed to understand the total person

Jonathan Edwards's Vision of Reality John J. Bombaro, 2011-10-19 Since the publication of Sang Hyun Lee's revolutionary commentary The Philosophical Theology of Jonathan Edwards scholars have considered the possibilities of understanding Jonathan Edwards's thought in terms of dispositional laws, forces, and habits. While some scholars reject the notion of a dispositional ontology in Edwards, others have taken the concept of disposition in his thought beyond the usage the Northampton minister ever indicated, especially with respect to soteriological considerations. The preacher of Sinners in the Hands of an Angry God is made to be an inclusivist, if not a crypto-universalist. Jonathan Edwards's Vision of Reality substantiates that Edwards, in an effort to combat deistic and materialistic Enlightenment paradigms, employs dispositions in his philosophy, but that his radical theocentrism and Calvinistic particularism established its boundaries within his apologetical reconsideration of spatiotemporal and metaphysical reality. Within his spiritual vision of reality, Edwards leaves no stone unturned: history and even the reprobate find inherent value and a positive functional role, not only in God's program of self-glorification but as manifestations of divine being. The damned are deformities in God. The logic of Edwards's theocentric vision of reality pushes his ideas to the limits of acceptable Reformed orthodoxy and sometimes beyond those limits.
