The developing World contains 80 percent of the globe's population but accounts for less than 25 percent of its trade. The tariffs imposed by rich nations on manufactured products from developing countries are four times higher than the duties on goods from other industrialized nations. This book examines the trade problems the developing nations face in the new Millennium. Professor Carl's detailed analysis of the effects of WTO rules as well as rules of no less than 37 other regional trade agreements on the economic infrastructures of developing nations is as telling and incisive as it is eloquent and insightful. It covers a wide spectrum of essential trade issues including tariffs, quotas, subsidies, dumping, rules of origin, standards, safeguards, textiles, agriculture, and information technology. Professor Carl clearly shows why in all of these areas developing nations fail to benefit from multilateral trade agreements as currently constituted. This volume is an invaluable key to understanding the deepest and most serious flaws in the New World Order and an essential resource for practitioners, policymakers, business people, and scholars committed to an international trade regime that is truly free. Published under the Transnational Publishers imprint.

International and Comparative Criminal Justice Mark Findlay, 2013-06-19

International criminal justice is in transition. This book explores the growing internationalisation of criminal justice as a phenomenon of global governance. It provides students with a critical understanding of the international institutions for regulating transnational crime, the development of alternative justice processes across the globe, and international and supra-national co-operation, criminal justice policies and practices. Key topics covered include: The historical development of International Criminal Justice institutions and traditions; International Restorative Justice; Victim communities and collaborative justice; The relationship between crime and war; International Human Rights; The War on Terror; The globalisation of crime and control; Developments in global governance; communitarian justice and accountability. This text will familiarize students with the literature and debates surrounding international criminal justice and enable them to critically appreciate their theoretical and policy context. In doing so, it encourages students to assess the strengths and weaknesses of different approaches to the study of global justice and the analysis of comparative policy convergence and research. It will also help students to reflect on and communicate in an informed and critical way theoretical accounts and empirical studies within the field of international criminal justice. This book will be essential reading for upper-level undergraduates taking courses in criminal law, international relations and governance, and postgraduates engaged in international criminal justice, international law, regulation and governance, and human rights.

Encyclopedia of the Developing World Thomas M.

Leonard, 2006. A comprehensive work on the historical and current status of developing countries. A handbook on the new law of the sea. 1 (1991) René Jean Dupuy, Daniel Vignes, 1991-10-16. The fact that the Montego Bay Convention has been only ratified by 37 States at present and that it will be some time before the 60 ratifications required by Article 308 are achieved has not prevented states from acting in accordance with the rules drawn up by the Conference. Close on one hundred states have established either exclusive economic zones broadly modelled on Part V or 200 nautical mile fishery zones and drawn on the principles laid down for exploiting living resources Although these laws have been formulated unilaterally by states international custom since the judgement by the International Court of Justice in the Fisheries Case of 18 December 1951 is derived from concordant national rules This shift began even before the Conference ended and has been consolidated since then Moreover the regime governing the sea bed beyond the limits of national jurisdiction defined by Part XI which was the stumbling block of the Conference is subject to transitional arrangements on the basis of two resolutions adopted in the Conference s Final Act one providing for the establishment of a Preparatory Commission and the other on the preliminary activities of pioneer investors This two volume work an earlier edition of which appeared in French has been written by a team of experts of international renown It presents an analysis of the Convention with an additional Chapter on the legal regime governing underwater archaeological and historical objects
