The Knowledge Of Water:

The Secret Knowledge of Water Craig Childs, 2008-12-14 Naturalist Craig Childs's utterly memorable and fantastic study of the desert's dangerous beauty is based on years of adventures in the deserts of the American West. Washington Post. Like the highest mountain peaks, deserts are environments that can be inhospitable even to the most seasoned explorers. Craig Childs, who has spent years in the deserts of the American West as an adventurer, a river guide, and a field instructor in natural history, has developed a keen appreciation for these forbidding landscapes: their beauty, their wonder, and especially their paradoxes. His extraordinary treks through arid lands in search of water are an astonishing revelation of the natural world at its most extreme. Utterly memorable and fantastic. Certainly no reader will ever see the desert in the same way again. Suzannah Lessard, Washington Post.

The Secret Knowledge of Water Craig Childs, 2000 Childs, author of Crossing Paths, takes on the defining subject of the arid west: water. But his is the search for the secretive water of the desert where flows are hidden, ephemeral, sudden, and violent.

Water, Knowledge and the Environment in Asia Ravi Baghel, Lea Stepan, Joseph K.W. Hill, 2017-03-31 The dramatic transformation of our planet by human actions has been heralded as the coming of the new epoch of the Anthropocene. Human relations with water raise some of the most urgent questions in this regard. The starting point of this book is that these changes should not be seen as the result of monolithic actions of an undifferentiated humanity but as emerging from diverse ways of relating to water in a variety of settings and knowledge systems. With its large population and rapid demographic and socioeconomic change, Asia provides an ideal context for examining how varied forms of knowledge pertaining to water encounter and intermingle with one another. While it is difficult to carry out comprehensive research on water knowledge in Asia due to its linguistic, political, and cultural fragmentation, the topic nevertheless has relevance across boundaries. By using a carefully chosen selection of case studies in a variety of locations and across diverse disciplines, the book demonstrates commonalities and differences in everyday water practices around Asia while challenging both romantic presumptions and Eurocentrism. Examples presented include class differences in water use in the megacity of Delhi, India; the impact of radiation on water practices in Fukushima, Japan; the role of the King in hydraulic practices in Thailand; and ritual irrigation in Bali, Indonesia.
