

Beginning with a consideration of the 'atomic nature' of language and concluding with 'The Meanings of Meaning', Professor Black elaborates a way of looking at men, their activities and their relations to each other and to the universe as they perceive it, sub specie linguae. His discussion advances logically from the phoneme — the building block of words — to grammar, the relationship between language and the mode of thought of a civilisation, the uses to which language is put, and the close connection between linguistic and philosophical inquiry. He ends by discussing theories of meaning and warns against overly simple conclusions in an area of such importance.
