Social Suffering Hb:

Social Suffering Emmanuel Renault, 2017-10-11 There are various forms of suffering that are best described as social suffering such as stress harassment experience of poverty and domination Such suffering is a matter of social concern but it is rarely a matter of discussion in the social sciences political theory or philosophy This book aims to change this by making social suffering central to an interdisciplinary critical theory of society The author advances the various contemporary debates about social suffering connecting their epistemological and political stakes He provides tools for recasting these debates constructs a consistent conception of social suffering and thereby equips us with a better understanding of our social world and more accurate models of social critique The book contributes to contemporary debates about social suffering in sociology social psychology political theory and philosophy Renault argues that social suffering should be taken seriously in social theory as well as in social critique and provides a systematic account of the ways in which social suffering could be conceptualised He goes on to inquire into the political uses of references to social suffering surveys contemporary controversies in the social sciences and distinguishes between economical socio medical sociological and psychoanalytic approaches before proposing an integrative model and discussing the implications for social critique He claims that the notion of social suffering captures some of the most specific features of the contemporary social question and that the most appropriate approach to social suffering is that of an interdisciplinary critical theory of society

Social and Interpersonal Dynamics in Pain Tine Vervoort, Kai Karos, Zina Trost, Kenneth M. Prkachin, 2018-07-18 This groundbreaking analysis moves our knowledge of pain and its effects from the biomedical model to one accounting for its complex psychosocial dimensions Starting with its facial and physical display pain is shown in its manifold social contexts in the lifespan in a family unit expressed by a member of a gender and or race and as observed by others These observations by caregivers and family are shown as vital to the social dynamic of pain as observers react to sufferers pain and as these reactions affect those suffering The book's findings should enhance practitioners understanding of pain to develop more effective individualized treatments for clients pain experience and inspire researchers as well Among the topics covered Why do we care Evolutionary mechanisms in the social dimension of pain When how and why do we express pain On the overlap between physical and social pain Facing others in pain why context matters Caregiving impact upon sufferers cognitive functioning Targeting individual and interpersonal processes in therapeutic interventions for chronic pain Social and Interpersonal Dynamics in Pain will be a valuable resource for clinicians who deal in pain practice and management as well as for students and researchers interested in the social interpersonal and emotional variables that contribute to pain the processes with which pain is associated and the psychology of pain in general recent articles from Margaret Mead Award winners Sera Young Seth Holmes and Erin Finley along with new articles by such established medical anthropologists as Paul Farmer and Merrill Singer Rethinking Diabetes Emily

Mendenhall,2019-07-15 In Rethinking Diabetes Emily Mendenhall investigates how global and local factors transform how diabetes is perceived experienced and embodied from place to place Mendenhall argues that the link between sugar and diabetes overshadows the ways in which underlying biological processes linking hunger oppression trauma unbridled stress and chronic mental distress produce diabetes The life history narratives in the book show how deeply embedded these factors are in the ways diabetes is experienced and re produced among poor communities around the world Rethinking Diabetes focuses on the stories of women living with diabetes near or below the poverty line in urban settings in the United States India South Africa and Kenya Mendenhall shows how women s experiences of living with diabetes cannot be dissociated from their social responsibilities of caregiving demanding family roles expectations and gendered experiences of violence that often displace their ability to care for themselves first These case studies reveal the ways in which a global story of diabetes overlooks the unique social political and cultural factors that produce syndemic diabetes differently across contexts From the case studies Rethinking Diabetes clearly provides some important parallels for scholars to consider significant social and economic inequalities health systems that are a mix of public and private with substandard provisions for low income patients and rising diabetes incidence and prevalence At the same time Mendenhall asks us to unpack how social cultural and epidemiological factors shape people s experiences and why we need to take these differences seriously when we think about what drives diabetes and how it affects the lives of the poor Rutter's Child and Adolescent

Transcending Shadows Yao Lin, 2024-10-03 Based on interviews with three generations of three families this book clarifies why the Cultural Revolution in China 1966-1976 had a uniquely traumatic impact on those affected and shows the forms this trauma has taken in the lives of their second and third generations at both inter subjective and intra psychic levels As a psychoanalytically oriented qualitative study of the aftermath of the Cultural Revolution this book investigates the role played by the beliefs practices and narratives which were ideologically formative during the Cultural Revolution showing their role in the trans generational transmission of trauma and how they still prevent a collective means of dealing with this trauma today Instead of a collective remembering a collective repression prevents the symbolization of memory on a societal level and families serve as a space for this unresolved trauma In this context psychoanalysis is shown to be an effective way of interrupting and healing the transmission of trauma across the generations Within a longer historical framework this book also explores the Cultural Revolution as a defensive compulsory repetition of the traumas that China had previously experienced on a political and cultural level Bearing witness to a personal process of transforming a wound into work this first person account offers in depth understanding and guidance for psychotherapists and psychoanalysts engaged in interrupting and healing the trans generational transmission of trauma of their coming of age which is beset by violence the violence of homelessness hunger incarceration stray bullets sexual and physical assault the hypermasculine logic of the streets and the drug trade In Kensington eighteenth birthdays are not rites of passage but statistical miracles One mistake drives Ryan out of middle school and into the juvenile justice pipeline For Emmanuel his queerness means his mother's rejection and sleeping in shelters School closures and budget cuts inspire Giancarlos to lead walkouts which get him kicked out of the system Although all three are high school dropouts they are on a quest to defy their fate and their neighborhood and get high school diplomas In a triumph of empathy and drawing on nearly a decade of reporting sociologist and policymaker Nikhil Goyal follows Ryan Giancarlos and Emmanuel on their mission plunging deep into their lives as they strive to resist their designated place in the social hierarchy In the process Live to See the Day confronts a new age of American poverty after the end of welfare as we know it after zero tolerance in schools criminalized a generation of students after the odds of making it out are ever slighter Automotive Industries ,1924
