The competence connection Jay Hall,1993      The Competence Connection Jay Hall,1988      The Organizational Hologram: The Effective Management of Organizational Change Kenneth D. Mackenzie,2011-06-28 Previously the conventional wisdom about organizations was If it s not broken then don t fix it Today the new dictum seems to be If it works make it work better There is a shift from a posture of reaction to one that embraces change The prevailing wisdom is changing because many of our organizations are now or will soon be in a state of crisis Every day we read about a proud old firm going bankrupt manufacturers who must cut costs and retrench in order to survive and failures in our governmental agencies Who s next Many organizations are failing but others are doing well All wonder if something terrible could happen to their organization Thus it seems prudent to anticipate and proactively manage change rather than to passively sit by until some crisis strikes All of us know that any organization can be improved There will always be a gap between some desired state and our current reality There will always be differences among people about what is desirable and what is not Every change energizes these gaps Because there are so many changes taking place it is no wonder that there is continuous clamor for organizational change These gaps and differences are the source of problems Once a problem is recognized and agreed to efforts are made to generate a solution to it Every solution has both its intended and unintended consequences      Human Resource Management Trevor Amos,Adrian Ristow,Noel J Pearse,2009-04 Indispensable for managers and management students this handbook illustrates how to effectively manage people and offers practical insight in human resource departments Discussions concerning South African labor legislation human resource planning motivating and retaining staff and managing labor relations in the workplace are included in this useful guide      Contextual Intelligence in School Leadership Ramodikoe Nylon Marishane,2020-04-28 In Contextual Intelligence in School Leadership the author presents a new leadership construct suitable for the 21st century context of school improvement He presents school leadership from contextual intelligence perspective as a function of various elements which interact within the leadership they shape and the context in which such leadership is exercised to exert influence on the core areas of practice including student learning teacher development and school community engagement The construct represents a departure from the contemporary leadership theories which place emphasis on separate elements of leadership and inadvertently create a problem of disintegration that does not bode well for sustainable school improvement      Potential Attrition in Education Elsje J. Hall,Miriam Altman,2005 The decision to change one s job is usually preceded by a process of job evaluation and determining alternative employment opportunities Dissatisfaction with the workplace can be a strong incentive to seek alternative opportunities This study focuses on the role played by job satisfaction morale and HIV AIDS in educator attrition The responses of educators who considered leaving their jobs were compared to the responses of those preferring to stay Findings reveal that job dissatisfaction linked to poor salaries and limited possibilities for career development as well as the lack of status and respect attached to the profession may push educators out of the classroom The low morale amongst potential leavers reflects this dissatisfaction as well as the stress caused by curriculum transformation and the emotional impact of HIV AIDS Factors encouraging educators to stay in their profession included their passion for developing young people and strong collegial relationships However many also feel trapped by limited job alternatives and may embark on withdrawal options such as increased absenteeism or lower outputs It is crucially important to deal with the sources of educator frustration lest the result becomes deteriorating service provision and quality in South African education

Women, Migration and Citizenship Alexandra Dobrowolsky, 2016-02-17 Given the recent and rapid changes to migration patterns and citizenship processes this volume provides a timely compelling empirical and theoretical study of the gendered implications of such developments More specifically it draws out the multiple connections between migration and citizenship concerns and practices for women The collection features original research that examines women s diverse im migrant and refugee experiences and exposes how gender ideologies and practices organize migrant citizenship in its various dimensions at the local national and transnational levels The volume contributes to theoretical debates on gender migration and citizenship and provides new insights into their interrelation It includes rich case studies that range from the Philippines and Somalia to the Caribbean and from Australasia to Canada and Britain Designed to have a multidisciplinary appeal it is suitable for courses on migration diversity gender race ethnicity law and public policy comparative politics and international relations
