The Complete Wildfowler:

The Complete Wildfowler Stanley Duncan, 1912 The Complete Wildfowler Grits Gresham, 1973 The Complete Wildfowler Stanley Duncan, Guy Thorne, 1911 The Complete Wildfowler Stanley Duncan, Cyril Arthur Edward Ranger Gull, 1950 The Complete Wildfowler Stanley Duncan, 2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1912 edition Excerpt BIRDS MET WITH BY THE WILDFOWLER MUTE SWAN Cygnus olor J E Gntelin The Mute Swan is a more or less domesticated species in this country although it is not improbable that in hard winters a few really wild examples visit the British Isles It is an inhabitant of the Palaearctic region The adults are white It may be distinguished from the Hooper Swan by the black protuberance at the base of the upper mandible The young are uniform greyish brown Length about 60 in HOOPER SWAN Cygnus musicus Bechstetn This swan is a common winter visitor to our islands The adults are white Immatures are ashy brown above lighter below Length 60 in BEWICK S SWAN Cygnus bewicki Yarrell This species of swan is similar to the Hooper Swan but may be distinguished by its smaller size and the shape of the yellow patch on the upper mandible Length 48 in It is a fairly common autumn and winter visitor to the British Islands LESSER SNOW GOOSE Chen hyperboreus Pallas This is a North American species breeding in Arctic regions and wandering south in winter It is a rare abnormal autumn migrant to the British Isles It has occurred several times in Ireland and small flocks were seen in Cumberland Northumberland and Yorkshire during the severe winter of 1890 1 The adult is pure white with black quills The young have the upper plumage greyish brownish grey on the back and whitish on the under parts Legs and feet pale slate colour bill black Length from 29 to 30 in GREY LAG GOOSE Anser cinereus Meyer Although about a century ago this bird used to nest in the fens of Cambridge and Lincolnshire and the carrs of Yorkshire it has long since ceased to do so and it can now only be found breeding in the north of Scotland and in the Outer The Complete Wildfowler (Classic Reprint) Stanley Duncan, 2015-07-21 Excerpt from The Complete Wildfowler It is perhaps the fact of collaboration which makes a preface to a book of this sort necessary More than two years ago Mr Stanley Duncan and myself agreed that a complete Wildfowler should be written A good deal of material was already available most of it consisting of Mr Stanley Duncan s constant and valuable contributions to The Shooting Times and The Field on the subject of wildfowling the rest being my own notes extending over a considerable period of one s sporting life From the time of Colonel Hawker until fifteen years ago all the published books upon wildfowling were excellent in their measure and in their day The later books have been excellent also but have been shorter and more in the fashion of the handbook or manual It seemed good therefore to the collaborators that they should make a sustained effort to produce a book which might possibly be a standard work for a considerable period It will be as well to give some indication of the respective parts taken by the collaborators in the production of this work It has fallen to me to be the general editor It has been a labour of love and a strange relief from the continuous production of fiction The book however owes its real value undoubtedly to the work in it of Mr Stanley Duncan the chief organiser and honorary secretary of the Wildfowlers Association and a sportsman whose name is as well known to all fowlers as his genial personality and remarkable excellence with the gun is known to a certain section of them I myself have written the introductory parts and the chapters dealing with guns and ammunition The Complete Gun Room etc etc The important branch of shore shooting and the chapters on punt gunning have been written by Mr Stanley Duncan though edited by me The illustrations and diagrams are also the work of Mr Stanley Duncan The ornithological part is a joint production with the aid of many of the leading authorities upon the subject I have here to say and I say it with some complacency that the chapter upon shoulder guns was submitted to Mr W W Greener himself one or two suggestions he made I very gladly incorporated About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
