feet made of flannel during the winter and of cotton during the summer C Inadequate Head Covering Professor Kerley states that this is one of the most frequent causes of disease of the respiratory tract in the young He calls attention to the fact that mothers carefully clothe the baby with ample coats blankets leggings etc before they take him out for the daily walk They dress him in a warm room taking plenty of time to put on the extra clothes during which time the baby frets and perspires When all is ready they place upon the hot almost bald head of the baby a light artistically decorated airy creation which is sold in the shops as children s caps The child is then taken out of doors and because of the inadequate covering of the hot perspiring head catches cold and the mother never knows how it came Every baby and child should wear under such caps a skull cap of thin flannel especially in cold weather In summer or windy day a light silk handkerchief folded under the cap is a very excellent protection Official Reports of the Debates of the House of Commons of the Dominion of Canada Canada.
