Elephant Seals Burney J. Le Beouf, Richard M. Laws, 2023-11-15 The largest of all seals elephant seals rank among the most impressive of marine mammals They are renowned for their spectacular recovery from near extinction at the end of the nineteenth century when seal hunters nearly eliminated the entire northern species No other vertebrate has come so close to extinction and made such a complete recovery The physiological extremes that elephant seals can tolerate are also remarkable females fast for a month while lactating and the largest breeding males fast for over one hundred days during the breeding seasons at which times both sexes lose forty percent of their body weight Elephant seals dive constantly during their long foraging migrations spending more time under water than most whales and diving deeper and longer than any other marine mammal This first book length discussion of elephant seals brings together worldwide expertise from scientists who describe and debate recent research including the history and status of various populations their life history tactics and other findings obtained with the help of modern microcomputer diving instruments attached to free ranging seals Essential for all marine mammalogists for its information and its methodological innovations Elephant Seals will also illuminate current debates about species extinctions and possible means of preventing them This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1994

become part of the material universe Is it a by product of brain chemistry or a constituent of reality Or to dig deeper which is more fundamental the existence of an objective physical universe or our subjective experience of it In this investigation into consciousness the universe and the nature of reality Richard Grossinger offers a wide ranging foundation for reimagining the universe as based in consciousness rather than matter He presents in depth analysis of the standard scientific description of the universe revealing the holes in its theories Exploring the interpenetration of matter and all reality by consciousness the author looks at reincarnation and past life memories examining famous and lesser known but verifiable accounts He then explores the nature and origin of consciousness with accompanying explorations of animal consciousness the brain as a computer multiple identities thoughtforms soul pictures and paranormal phenomena like UFOs faeries and poltergeists He also examines concepts from physics that combine elements of both consciousness and matter such as collapsing waveforms and the uncertainty principle of quantum mechanics Examining nonlocal and transpersonal modes of consciousness Grossinger looks at the difference between consciousness and personal identity He expands this discussion with reflections on Sethian cosmology using Seth s own words and Jane Roberts s and John Friedlander s interpretations He reveals that consciousness also encompasses what has yet to manifest and explains why the universe exists at all why there is something rather than nothing Skewering the materialist paradigm and placing consciousness alongside mass gravity and heat as an essential component of the universe Grossinger proposes that reality is a thoughtform where sentient beings collaborate to bring about a concrete realm vibrating at their own frequency
