The Death Of Mr Love:

The Death of Mr. Love Indra Sinha, 2004-11-02 In a family of storytellers there was one tale never told Call this story fiction if you want but you must tell it because it is true and at its heart is that murder of forty years ago which people in India still remember The Death of Mr Love a novel inspired by a true story where the victim became a villain and the killer became a hero offers a rare and fascinating insight into the psychosexual undercurrents of Indian life The reverberations from the notorious Nanavati society murder in 1950s Bombay the fatal consequence of an affair between an Indian playboy and his married English lover were so great that they reached the offices of Prime Minister Nehru and changed the face of the Indian justice system irrevocably What is not known has never been known is that a second connected crime so cruel that it destroyed the lives of two women went unreported and has remained unpunished Until now In present day London the women s children unexpectedly meet forty years after their idyllic childhood in India Driven by grief anger or a deeper emotion they are unwilling to confront they return to India to uncover the mystery of the crime that caused their mothers suffering and exact their cold revenge But in the bazaars of today s Bombay a city racked and burned by communal riots their adversary still enjoys huge power and the friends soon find themselves in real terrifying danger Spanning two continents and encompassing the secrets of fifty years The Death of Mr Love fuses myth and murder fact and fiction It is a tale of stories that begin before their beginnings and continue beyond their ends Hearings United States. Reflections at Journey's End York County Bar Association, 2018-11-30 A compelling series of insightful biographical sketches of the men and women of the York County Bar commencing eleven years before the start of the Civil War as recounted by contemporaries and colleagues Candid sincere honest and on occasion with a touch of comic relief these memorial minutes are tributes to those who have made their rendezvous with mortality Found within these volumes is the venerable Jeremiah S Black who walked the corridors of national recognition during the Civil War era the urbane and brilliant Herbert B Cohen who wielded substantial political power throughout the commonwealth and rose to become an associate justice of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court the charismatic Harvey Gross whose superb advocacy in the third Hex trial and subsequent twenty year tenure on the York County Orphans Court placed him in the forefront of the princes of Anglo Saxon jurisprudence This callout of the giants in no way diminishes the significance commitment and integrity of the many other remarkable individuals who came after and counseled and inspired others to live honestly to exercise compassion to act with prudence and diligence and above all else made their contribution to the vast and diverse panorama of our humanity Not a typical memoir or story these memorial minutes constitute the defining epic of the York County Bar More than history more than recitals of character and personality of delightful encounters and more somber content they are about individuals remembered for the richness and power of their hopes achievements and commitments to the timeless values of the life of the law
