Migration and Colonization in Human Microevolution Alan G. Fix, 1999-09-09 An integrative approach linking the causes of migration to genetic consequences for human evolution

Labour Productivity, Investment in Human Capital and Youth Employment Olga Rymkevich, 2010-01-01 Unemployment levels are on the rise nearly everywhere and the rate is particularly high among young people If this trend is not reversed the potential long term economic and social damage is incalculable For this reason a particular urgency attended an international conference on the subject held in March 2009 at the Marco Biagi Foundation in Modena Italy in the course of which specialists in labour law human resources management labour economics sociology education and statistics met to present and compare research This issue of the Bulletin of Comparative Labour Relations includes a selection of the papers presented at that conference Although the selected essays present findings on specific issues in particular countries the general applicability at the global level is evident Assessing measures taken to deal with youth unemployment in thirteen countries Italy Spain Russia Sweden Bulgaria Estonia Hungary Poland Israel Nigeria the United States China and Singapore twenty five leading authorities describe and analyse such aspects of the problem as the following vocational education and training quality of employment as well as quantity links between educational institutions and local national and international enterprises consultation and co operation between employers associations and trade unions job security vs employment security funding for postgraduate programmes internships and on the job vocational training career development for future managers safeguards for workers in a framework of flexibility labour market pressure from unskilled immigrant workers earn as you learn schemes work in the informal economy and the rationale behind the phasing out of passive labour market measures for school leavers such as unemployment benefits

The Economics of Immigration Örn B. Bodvarsson, Hendrik Van den Berg, 2009-06-12 The inspiration for this book came from a collaborative research project on immigration begun in 2001 when we were colleagues at University of Nebraska Lincoln Bodvarsson was a Visiting Professor there in 2001 05 Our project dealt with the application of Say's Law to the supply of immigrant labor meaning that when the supply of immigrant labor grows in an area the new immigrants being consumers bolster labor demand and help to offset the lower wages they may bring about Our test case was the seemingly obscure Dawson County Nebraska where the meatpacking industry experienced a relatively huge increase in Hispanic born labor supply around 1990 We found for Dawson County this demand effect to be significant and our results for this test case generalizable to other more prominent test cases This inspired us to study the famous Mariel Boatlift where Miami's labor force grew suddenly by 7% due to the arrival of nearly 125 000 Cuban refugees in the spring of 1980 In that study we showed that the Marielitos exerted a significant demand effect which we argue helps to account for the stylized fact that the Mariel influx had a relatively benign effect on the Miami labor market We had the privilege of presenting both studies at various conferences in the USA Norway Taiwan and Israel and these studies have been published in Labour Economics and the Research in Labor Economics series both studies are discussed in detail in this book

The Interactions of Human Mobility and Farming Systems on Biodiversity and Soil Quality in the Western Highlands of Cameroon Tankou, Christopher Mubeteneh, 2014-01-16 Population growth and the drop in the returns from the major cash crop coffee for small farmers are the main drivers that have influenced the farming systems and mobility of farmers in the Western Highlands of Cameroon The main objective of the research that led to this book was to determine the interactions between farming systems and human mobility in this region of Cameroon A comparative study was conducted through household and field surveys in three villages and conceptualized based on the systems approach The different types of mobility were influenced by household social factors the quest for high valued farm plots and hired labour Urban rural migration contributed to occupation diversification and social mobility The sustainability factor was a function of land use intensity intensity of off farm inputs the household adjustment factor and mobility of the household The sacred groves were rich in plant diversity of varied ecological and economic importance Nitrogen mining was common at all levels of the farming system These determinants and types of mobility claims are pertinent to the research area the sustainability results of the farming systems reflect the reality on the ground the nutrient flux evaluated at the crop and farm levels constitute a valuable database for future research

Global Pandemic, Security and Human Rights Ben Stanford, Steve Foster, Carlos Espaliu Berdud, 2021-12-29 This book presents an international and comparative exploration of how the COVID 19 global pandemic has affected and impacted on issues of human rights security and law Throughout the world the COVID 19 global pandemic has fundamentally impacted and altered our way of life As this book sets out all states have had to contend with similar challenges as well as competing interests and obligations affecting human rights and security These challenges present very few simple choices but nonetheless carry enormous consequences Organised into two thematic and distinct yet interrelated parts first on theoretical and practical challenges for human rights and second on threats to personal collective and global security the book examines how the ability of states to safeguard our fundamental rights and security broadly defined has been challenged Questions about the legality and legal impact of recent responses to COVID 19 will persist for some time It is often said that global problems require coordinated global solutions but the various responses to the pandemic by states suggest a notable lack of a consensus amongst the international community The book will be of interest to academics and researchers working in the areas of human rights law and security law It will also appeal to constitutional lawyers given the nature of law making and the challenge of ensuring adequate scrutiny in emergency situations as well as the impact of COVID 19 upon the legal framework more generally It will provide a valuable resource for policymakers practitioners and public servants

The Contextual Determinants of Malaria Elizabeth A. Casman, Hadi Dowlatabadi, 2010-09-30 As malaria and other tropical diseases continue their resurgence questions about the potential impacts of environmental and demographic factors are becoming more critical Recent attempts to understand the increase in malaria incidence often acknowledge the importance of social economic and other contextual variables but fail to explicitly incorporate them into models or consider how they evolve in relation to one another This problem is of crucial interest to the climate policy community which has been buffeted by claims and counter claims concerning the impact of climate change on malaria This important volume examines the contextual determinants of malaria and attempts to develop methods for incorporating them into projections of future incidence Internationally renowned health specialists economists and other social scientists provide regional and global perspectives on risk modeling the history of eradication efforts current determinants including environmental social and economic factors and prospects for new vaccines and drugs The Contextual Determinants of Malaria argues that an association of climate change with increased malaria incidence will have at least as much to do with human aging poverty urbanization and population movement as with a rise in global temperatures By placing climate in this perspective The Contextual Determinants of Malaria focuses attention on the public health needs most critical in both the immediate and long term future It encourages multidisciplinary analysis of malaria control and improves our understanding of the interactions of the diverse range of factors involved in the incidence and spread of the disease

The Future of Post-Human Migration

Peter Baofu, 2013-01-03 Is migration really so constructive that as Ralph Emerson 1909 once wrote in the context of the New World asylum of all nations will construct a new race a new religion a new state a new smelting pot WK 2012 This noble lie the melting pot in the 20th century can be contrasted with an opposing noble lie of the salad bowl in the 21st century when those in multiculturalism like Tariq Modood 2007 argue nowadays that multiculturalism is most timely and necessary and we need more not less WK 2012a Contrary to these opposing noble lies and other views as will be discussed in the book migration in relation to both the Same and the Others is neither possible or impossible nor desirable or undesirable to the extent that the respective ideologues on different sides would like us to believe Surely this exposure of the opposing noble lies about migration does not mean that the specific field of study on migration is a waste of time or that those interdisciplinary fields related to the study of migration like animal migration gene migration diaspora politics cultural assimilation human trafficking urbanization brain drain tourism ethnic cleansing environmental migration globalization religious persecution national identity gentrification fifth column migration art xenophobia space colonization multiculturalism and so on are worthless Needless to say neither of these extreme views is reasonable Instead this book offers an alternative better way to understand the future of migration especially in the dialectic context of the Same and the Others while learning from different approaches in the literature but without favoring any one of them or integrating them since they are not necessarily compatible with each other More specifically this book offers a new theory that is the theory of the cyclical progression of migration to go beyond the existing approaches in a novel way If successful this seminal project is to fundamentally change the way that we think about migration in relation to Sameness Otherness and identity from the combined perspectives of the mind nature society and culture with enormous implications for the human future and what the author originally called its post human fate
