A Modern History of the Balkans Thanos Veremis, 2017-02-28 The history of the Balkans has been a distillation of the great and terrible themes of 20th century history the rise of nationalism communism fascism genocide identity and war Written by one of the leading historians of the region this is a new interpretation of that history focusing on the uses and legacies of nationalism in the Balkan region In particular Professor Veremis analyses the influence of the West from the fall of the Ottoman Empire and the rise and collapse of Yugoslavia Throughout the state building process of Greece Serbia Rumania Bulgaria and later Albania the West provided legal administrative and political prototypes to areas bedevilled by competing irredentist claims At a time when Slovenia Rumania Bulgaria and Croatia have become full members of the EU yet some orphans of the Communist past are facing domestic difficulties A Modern History of the Balkans seeks to provide an important historical context to the current problems of nationalism and identity in the Balkans

A History of the War in the Balkans R. Craig Nation, 2018-04-04 The Balkans is often described as a grim backwater a no man's land of world politics in the words of a post World War II study foredoomed to conflict springing from heterogeneity The stereotype is false but it has been distressingly influential in shaping perceptions of the Balkan conflict and its origin By encouraging pessimism about prospects for recovery it may also make it more difficult to sustain commitments to post conflict peace building This book seeks to refute simplistic ancient hatreds explanations by looking carefully at the sources and dynamics of the Balkan conflict in all of its dimensions The Modern Balkans Richard C. Hall, 2012-01-01 In The Modern Balkans historian Richard C Hall gives a complete account of the historical events that have shaped the Balkan region of Southeastern Europe Originally separated from the rest of Europe by culture politics and economics the Balkans have slowly been integrating into Western Europe since the nineteenth century But this process of economic and political development following the Western European model has been far from smooth in the Balkans As Hall explains it has often been marked by violence and destruction the result of many wars and rebellions Though Soviet power imposed a nearly fifty year peace in the region the collapse of the Soviet Union renewed conflict that continued through the end of the twentieth century Hall concentrates here on the significant political and economic events that have had the greatest impact on the role of the Balkans in Europe in particular he examines the development of national states in the nineteenth century the influence of the two world wars and the collapse of Yugoslavia This clear and concise history of the Balkan Peninsula will appeal to readers and scholars interested in European history and the Balkans unique role in it History of the Balkans: Volume 1 Barbara Jelavich, 1983-07-29 Volume I discusses the history of the major Balkan nationalities It describes the differing conditions experienced under Ottoman and Habsburg rule but the main emphasis is on the national movements their successes and failures to 1900 and the place of events in the Balkans in the international relations of the day Documents on the Balkans - History, Memory, Identity Margit Rohringer, 2020-06-01 This book explores historical discourses on the various forms of identity production in film that are based on memory and shows how these narratives get mediated by documentary film Most films about the Balkans produced in the last two decades were in fact made in response to immediate concerns about the economic crises and political conflicts that struck the region during the 1990s These new forms of communication about history mostly show a rather self critical approach The book s case studies give the reader a clear idea of how processes informing identity formations are directly launched and later on maintained in peoples real and everyday lives Thus the case studies principal objective is to integrate the study of private space with existing macro debates in politics as well as with dominant discourses within the academic community The included case studies focus on several topics i e migration the reproduction and protection of personal as well as collective identities in post socialist societies revolutionary processes towards the official end of the Cold War the re creation of politically constructed narratives generational conflicts in the post socialist period and the fate of women during the war The multifaceted view of the region under focus in this study shows that common grounds and differences co exist in the Balkan space be it on a cultural economic social or geo political level Apart from the field of film studies this work is a powerful contribution to cultural history as well as to the growing field of visual history Governing Territorial Development in

Bulgaria Romania Macedonia Croatia and Slovenia as well as presenting research that responds to contemporary global issues by tracking the ways in which peace psychology is developing and implementing in the Balkans Challenges and Barriers to the European Union Expansion to the Balkan Region Costa, Bruno Ferreira, 2022-01-21 Despite all efforts to create a political union capable of improving European citizens quality of life there are several barriers to the European Union's EU expansion to the Balkan Region The EU enlargement and expansion to the Balkan Region is one of the Union's greatest challenges and political objectives in recent years In the turmoil of economic social and sanitation crises where is the space to debate the enlargement of the EU Challenges and Barriers to the European Union Expansion to the Balkan Region presents the EU's structure the process of enlargement and the challenges related to the Balkan region This book addresses critical issues and challenges in the EU and the emerging trends for the EU's future Covering topics such as enlargement policy integration NATO and political challenges this book is a valuable resource for post grad students of political science and international affairs faculty of higher education researchers academicians politicians world leaders and policymakers OECD Development Pathways Multi-dimensional Review of the Western Balkans From Analysis to Action OECD, 2022-04-20 The Western Balkans region has come a long way over the last two decades in achieving economic and social progress Its people are the region's greatest asset Yet faced with a lack of opportunities many particularly the young decide to emigrate The Western Balkans in the World Florian Bieber, Nikolaos Tzifakis, 2019-06-26 This book provides a detailed understanding of how different types of engagements impact upon the reform and EU integration of the Western Balkan region It examines the influence of Russia China Turkey and the UAE in the region and analyses the range of existing links Contributors offer an academic and multifaceted perspective of the role of external and non Western actors in the region that goes beyond on the one hand the tendency of some Western decision makers to perceive all engagement by third powers as a sinister threat and on the other the view of regional governments of all external involvement as a boon coming at a time of Western neglect and reduced foreign investments By looking at the importance of Russia Turkey China and the UAE in the Western Balkans the book sheds light on one key arena of global competition offers new insights on the strengths and weaknesses of Euro Atlantic integration and advances our knowledge of foreign policy and its economic social and security dimensions for small and medium sized countries It will be of interest to academics postgraduate and research students and think tankers with research interest in IR and Southeast European Studies European decision makers will also gain an insight into the extent of non Western influence in the region Exchange Rates and Economic Policy in the 20th Century Derek H. Aldcroft, 2017-07-05 The themes of this study are the exchange rate regimes chosen by policy makers in the twentieth century the means used to maintain these regimes and the impact of these decisions on individual national economies and the world economy in general The book draws heavily on new research showing the lessons and the legacy left for policy makers by the gold standard and the attempt at its resurrection in the 1920s In examining issues such as the gold exchange standard the gold bullion standard the experience of floating exchange rates the Bretton Woods arrangements the EMS and the ERM and the Currency Board approach there is a conscious attempt to draw out the relevance of history for policy makers now Insight Turkey / Spring 2019 - The Balkans At a Crossroads , Since the disintegration of the Ottoman State the Balkan region is one of the most penetrated divided and unstable regions in the world Therefore the term Balkanization which has a strong negative connotation began to refer to the division of a larger region into many small and hostile political entities and the instability of the region as a result of many ethnic and religious movements and conflicts Ironically in today s unstable world the Balkans is relatively stable and peaceful especially compared with the chaotic Middle East However the current peaceful atmosphere is quite vulnerable and fragile it seems that historical hatred and enmity may restart anytime Unfortunately today there are many uncertainties in the Balkans and hence the region is at a new crossroads not only at the domestic level but also at the international level At the domestic level the Balkan countries are in a longtime transitory period and so far the regional countries could not complete this process On the one hand most of the countries in the region have not finished their state transformation and institutionalization processes as yet They need to accelerate their respective reformist policies and complete their respective transition periods In particular legal changes are required to consolidate their state institutions The most dramatic example is the complex political and administrative structure in Bosnia and Herzegovina which has never functioned well since its establishment by the Dayton Agreement Due to the veto power of the three main ethnic groups namely Bosnians Serbs and Croats in the legislative and administrative institutions at different levels of government it is almost impossible to make necessary decisions to govern the country In order to get rid of the administrative deadlock they must take confidence building measures and establish a functional state system On the other hand the Balkan countries have many economic problems such as poverty unemployment underdevelopment and emigration There are too many structural economic problems but they have too few resources to mobilize Because of the high unemployment rate most of the qualified population of the Balkan countries migrates to the developed European countries such as Italy Germany and Switzerland As a result of many detrimental developments in social and political life including ethnic tensions population problems and unemployed youth the future of the Balkan states is still ambiguous At the regional level the Balkan countries have been experiencing many problems emanating from the dismemberment of the region during the modern period The Balkans was politically divided twice the first time the collapse of the Ottoman State was in the late 19th and early 20th centuries and the second the collapse of Yugoslavia was in the late 20th century After the disintegration of Yugoslavia national and ethnic enmities were renewed and quickly resulted in severe violent clashes mass killings including the genocide in Bosnia and Herzegovina A number of regional issues have remained unsolved and the initiated solution processes were stopped One of the main regional crises is the normalization of relations between Serbia and Kosovo The EU stipulates the normalization with Kosovo as a precondition of Serbia s accession to the Union Unless it recognizes the state of Kosovo it is impossible for Serbia to become a full member of the EU. However for the moment there is no concrete improvement in the Belgrade Pristina dialogue process. In spite of the continuance of negative relations among some regional actors there are some positive developments as well. The solution of the Macedonian name dispute in 2018 was a historical moment for the region because it demonstrated that the regional states have an intention to solve political problems and provide alternative solutions. At the global level the Balkan region continues to attract many global powers such as the U S the EU China and Russia. Each global power has its own strategy and perception of the region. The most involved global actor is the EU who wants to integrate the region with itself and thus bring stability and peace to this contiguous region. Therefore after the regional stability was secured with the support of the global powers most Balkan countries began to develop cooperative relations with the EU and its leading member states because the first priority and strategic preference of most Balkan countries is the integration with the EU. Their expectations from the EU membership are economic prosperity and the prevention of future regional clashes. On the other hand the U S has been trying to integrate the Balkan countries with NATO thus decreasing the influence of other global powers. Besides Greece which became a member in 1952 six Balkan countries namely Bulgaria Romania Albania Croatia Slovenia and Montenegro have also more recently become NATO members. Some other countries such as North Macedonia and Bosnia and Herzegovina are in the accession process. NATO membership together with the EU membership is the most important positive agenda of the Balkan countries. Russia has had an imaginary vision and historical patronage over the Balkans since the second half of the 19th century. Religious ethnic and linguistic affinity was the main motivation for Russia to improve its relations with the region which was an alternative route for reaching the warm seas. However nowadays Russia faces challenges from the Western countries who have taken the lead in the region. The integration process with both the EU and NATO limited the Russian influence in the Balkans. Furthermore Russia has insufficient resources to solve the domestic political and economic problems of the regional countries. Another global power that has begun to show up in the region is China. The Chinese presence in the Balkans is mainly in the economic sphere especially its investments in infrastructure and energy sectors. Compared with the other three global actors the Chinese role in the region is quite limited. The Balkans is almost at the heart of the European continent therefore it is very difficult for China to influence regional politics as much as the Western countries. However since the Balkans is a penetrated region the impact of global rivalry is very noticeable in the region. The conflictual policies of global powers may activate the dormant regional fault lines and trigger the renewal of ethnic and religious conflicts. This new issue of Insight Turkey brings to the readers various manuscripts which touch upon domestic and regional issues and the impact of the external actors i.e. EU NATO Russia China and Turkey in the Balkans. As mentioned above the normalization of the relations between Kosovo and Serbia are crucial for the region as it may prove to be a regional destabilizer in the future. This issue gained more attention after the discussions on a possible territorial exchange between the two states Aleksander Zdravkovski and Sabrina

P Ramet discuss this topic through historical and political lenses and contend that this process can have serious repercussions both in the Western Balkans and internationally The name dispute between North Macedonia and Greece is another important topic that impacts the whole Balkans region In their commentaries Cvete Koneska and Zhidas Daskalovski bring different perspectives on this issue yet both of them raise questions regarding the success of the agreement Albania is one of the most important states in the region and in recent years has been suffering from political turmoil and economic downturn which can very easily be translated into regional instability Isa Blumi in his article analyses the role of the U S NATO and the EU in the Albanian slide and cautions that the current situation may turn violent Croatia another important state in the Balkans considering its experience with the EU is at the center of Senada elo abi and Emir Suljagi s articles Croatia joined the EU in 2013 and this was considered an important step for all the Western Balkans because Croatia would serve as an example for their accession However Senada elo abi contends that Croatia s experience of the EU accession and membership is only partially relevant for the Western Balkans EU enlargement mainly due to its domestic issues Emir Suljagi on the other hand focuses on the Croatian interference in Bosnia and Hercegovina and brings to the readers a new viewpoint in terms of the otherization of Bosnia s Muslim population In order to explain this Suljagi uses the notion of antemurale Christianitatis which has been visible in Croatian politics since the 15th century The external interventions have never been missing in the Balkans Especially since the dissolution of Yugoslavia transatlantic relations have become crucial for the region In this context Oya Dursun zkanca s article argues that NATO accession acts as a prelude to the eventual EU accession ensuring that the countries stay the course of engaging in reforms and contributing to Euro Atlantic security while confirming their commitment to democracy Yet in recent years other actors Russia China and Turkey have started to play an important role in the region both politically and economically While a withdrawal of Russia came to the fore after the fall of communism in the Balkans lately it is trying to regain position in the region Vsevolod Samokhvalov in his article argues that Russia and the Balkans states are exploring new ways of cooperation considering that Russia is applying a more assertive foreign policy while the Balkan states are being more pragmatic China is not lagging behind Russia in the Balkans yet it is following a different path from Russia as China is acting generally on economic grounds Within this framework Liu Zuokui analyses China s investments in the Balkans and its impact in the region Lastly Turkey is one of the main countries whose role in the region is increasing day by day The commentary of Mehmet U ur Ekinci provides a comprehensive analysis of Turkey s Balkans policy while Ilya Roubanis discusses Turkey s role in the Balkans as part of the broader narrative of European integration Yet Turkey s policies in the Balkans have not been unchallenged by other powers The EU and especially Germany have started to see Turkey as an emerging threat in the region especially in terms of economy Elif Nuro lu and H seyin H Nuro lu focus exactly on this issue and argue that even while currently the commercial competition between Turkey and Germany in the Balkans is not serious in the forthcoming years Turkey has the potential to be a serious competitor to Germany Religion is an important aspect of Turkey's foreign policy yet this is true for Saudi Arabia as well Focusing on the case of Bulgaria Ismail Numan Telci and Aydzhana Yordanova Peneva evaluate the activities of Turkey and Saudi Arabia in the religious sphere By doing so the article explains the motivations behind such actions and addresses the impact of this activism on the Bulgarian society The last article of this issue is that of Muhidin Mulalic where he evaluates the trilateral relations between Turkey Serbia and Bosnia and Herzegovina and concludes that this tripartite diplomatic relation has been quite successful and has resulted in successful economic and trade cooperation To conclude the Balkans once considered as a powder keg is currently in a state of relative stability Yet this stability to some extent is threatened by the internal domestic and regional issues Concurrently the Balkans strategic position attracts external powers to intervene in the regional affairs All this considered the Balkan states find themselves at a crossroads and consequently are trying to create a balance between their domestic regional and international affairs This issue of Insight Turkey aims at analyzing the above mentioned issues and provide to its readers a general framework of the most important and current events in the Balkans
