Excerpt from The History and Antiquities of the Diocese of Kilmacduagh In aiming at this I have endeavoured to make the existing interesting remains of our early churches illustrate the labours of their founders The stones of Venice are not the only stones that can speak to those who understand Hence I have also given our old castles a prominence which must give additional interest to the narrative of the long struggles between the encroaching Normans and the native chiefs The convulsions of the seventeenth century transferred to the men of new interests the possessions of the Irish chiefs and of the more Irish Normans In a time like ours when land tenure has become the difficulty of the hour both to the Legislature and to the people a study of those past transfers their origin and sanctions must possess a special interest And as the bishops of a diocese are not merely the spiritual guides but also the sharers of the sorrows and the joys of their flocks the sketches of our bishops are given in immediate connection with the various periods of which I have treated In the notice of the career of Dr H h de Burgo the special value of this line of treatment is best illustrated About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

J. Fahey, DD., VG. J. Fahey, 1893 The History and Antiquities of the Diocese of Ossory William Carrigan, 1981 List of Works Relating to British Genealogy and Local History New York Public Library, 1910 The Religious Condition of Ireland 1770-1850 Nigel Yates, 2006-02-02 Nigel Yates provides a major reassessment of the religious state of Ireland between 1770 and 1850 He argues that this was both a period of intense reform across all the major religious groups in Ireland and also one in which the seeds of religious tension which were to dominate Irish politics and society for most of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries were sown He examines in detail from a wide range of primary sources the mechanics of this reform programme and the growing tensions between religious groups in this period showing how political and religious issues became inextricably mixed and how various measures that might have been taken to improve the situation were not politically or religiously possible
